

September 17, 1918.

Atlanta University Notes.

The Student Army Training Corps is in two units, the College unit and the Vocational unit. Students will be admitted to the College unit only if they have satisfactorily completed 13 units of high school work, or its equivalent. In most cases Atlanta University will have to determine their qualification in the high school units by an examination.

The Vocational unit is open to all young men of high school classification, 18 years old or older, who are regularly enrolled students of Atlanta University. Students qualified will be inducted into the vocational unit upon their voluntary request. There will be opportunity for high school students of draft age to continue their regular program of high school studies until they are drafted, or there will be opportunity for such students voluntarily to apply for induction into the vocational unit of the Student Army Training Corps.

Students inducted into the Vocational unit will become soldiers in the Atlanta University Training Detachment as now organized at the institution, and after two months intensive vocational training they will leave Atlanta University as regular soldiers for service in the field or overseas. Probably the first opportunity for induction of high school students into the S.A.T.C. Vocational unit will be with the new detachment which comes on November 1st. They will then be supplied with necessary clothing and equipment and for the two months training receive $30. a month, the pay of a private.

There is a possibility that college ^{boys} ~~students~~ will be asked to return to Atlanta University two weeks before the postponed opening of school. in order to be inducted into the college unit of the S.A.T.C. If so, notices will be sent out in a few days.
