Dear Mr. Bell:

I control the rights to all six poems in which you have expressed interest; however, "And Fall Shall Sit In Judgement" is not available for reprint, neither now nor in the future.

The terms for permission to reprint on each of the other five poems is Fifty Dollars for each poem.

Do let me know as soon as possible if you decide to use any or all of them. In any event, good luck to you with your book.

Sincerely,

Audre Lorde
