“As a graduating senior I was heavily effected by covid19. We had to end the semester early and go home. I am from the west coast so this task was not easy. I am a fortunate individual seeing as my mother is a flight attendant, and we do not have the same travel restrictions as most; but my parents still needed to take off of work to come help me. I had to leave my car and majority of things in Atlanta. My graduation was postponed and I missed out on a lot of things that close out the semester. The euphoria and atmosphere of almost being done with undergrad is something you dream about all 4 years. That’s gone though, and it’s not just going to come back in a few months.”
