

Clark Opens to Largest Frosh Class in History

Greetings Freshmen!

Speaking from the subject, "New Horizons," the President addressed the students and faculty at the opening chapel service of the new school year. He welcomed the large class of freshmen, and congratulated them upon their decision to continue their education and upon their choice of a college. Speaking of the democratic life of the College, the quality of its faculty, the modernity of its buildings, the adequacy of its furnishings and equipment, its high rating, and the scope and richness of its program, the President pointed out that Clark College is an extraordinary institution where the personality of every student would have opportunity for expression and development, and where every student may prepare himself for living and future usefulness. It was emphasized that the gravity of the world situation today places a large responsibility upon every student to prepare himself to contribute to the reconstruction of a war-torn world. Where you will be twenty-five years from today or even four years from today will depend upon how you begin and what you do during this first year, the freshmen were told. Your success will depend largely upon hard work, "stick-to-itiveness" and common sense.

Dr. Dennis, head of department of mathematics and representing the faculty, spoke on the subject, "Activities At Clark College and Your Future Life." If everyone on earth felt that God placed him here for a specific purpose and sought to find his place in life, there would be no wars, no suicides, no chain-gangs, no jails and, in fact, no officers of the law. This would be a world into which we would thank God that our children could be born, reared and educated.

The fundamental philosophy of education was predominant in the minds and lives of the far-sighted people who instituted

Prexy Speaks

Greetings to the students of the Clark College family. I am glad to welcome all new students into the warm fellowship of our family circle. My brief message to all in this first issue of the Panther for this school year is to live well your college days. Fill them with compelling interests and worthwhile activities. Keep busy. If you will fill every day with useful work, well balanced with recreation and sleep, you will acquire strength and you will increase rapidly your ability to achieve and succeed. Life is much like a tennis game. You do not win by one fell stroke; but you play and win the game point by point. A successful college career is achieved day by day. Watch your daily achievements. "Every day well lived makes each yesterday a memory of joy and every tomorrow a vision of hope."

JAMES P. BRAWLEY,
President.

Know Your College

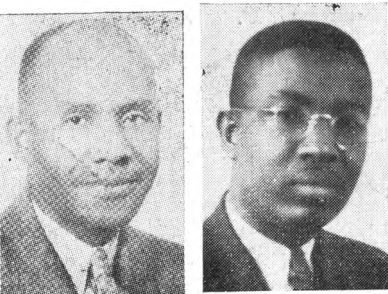

As Clark opened its doors to the host of new students, old thoughts are beginning to turn in the direction of the Seventy-sixth Anniversary celebration which comes in February, 1945. The history of Clark College—one—it is the story of an institution founded upon noble principles and devoted to the training and development of the thousands of Negro Youth in quest of knowledge.

The school has been relocated on three major occasions, first at Whitehall at McDaniel Streets—second, on the the south side of Atlanta—third, at its present site at Chestnut and Fair Streets. The name Clark was given it in recognition of a donation made by Mrs. Augusta Clark Cole in honor of her father, Bishop D. H. Clark.

The college as we know it now, its campus and buildings, were made possible through the donations of the General Education Board, the Rosenwald Foundation, and Mrs. Henry Pfeiffer of New York City. Through a vote of the Board of Trustees the dormitories for men and women have been named Henry Pfeiffer Hall and Annie Merner Hall in honor of the husband of Mrs. Pfeiffer and Mrs. Pfeiffer, who gave the

Joining Up

The class of '48 arrived on the campus and began their collegiate life full of high spirits, good scholars, and some destined to become leaders.

None of its members will ever forget the return of the Sophomores; then there was Crab Week . . . in reality an endeavor to develop in them the spirit of comradeship, and the power to meet and mingle with each other, the ability to follow, and to inculcate a sense of honor and respect for the rights of others.

On Saturday, September 16, was the campus picnic. Everything was "for free" . . . barbecue . . . Boston baked beans . . . cole slaw . . . milk . . . and oranges. Dr. Winston served as hostess with Ogust Delaney, Cynthia Perry, Emma Jefferson, Marcella James and Ora Jeanne Bohannon assisting.

To climax the activities President and Mrs. James P. Brawley extended invitations to an afternoon tea, which was held on Sunday, September 17, to the members of the Clark family in compliment to the largest receiving line were President and Mrs. James P. Brawley, Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Dennis, Mesdames Sara Cureton and Flora Griffin, Messrs. Bustamante, Pugh and Burns, Misses Cecil Posey, Norma Hull, Frances Clark, Rose Ella King, D. Touchstone, E. Bowick and Dean E. B. Winston and Dean D. T. Reeves. Dr. and Mrs. A. A. McPheeters were guests arriving late. The hostesses were Marcella James, Mable O'Neal, Gwendolyn Coffee and Ludell White. Miss W. J. Gilbert announced the guests as they arrived.

In preparing for this largest opening for prospective students accommodations were made at the Atlanta University Dormitory to house young men so as to admit the large number of students who entered as freshmen.

The new enrollment at the time news went to press was two hundred sixty (260) Freshmen.

An Editorial

Although you descended upon us like a swarm of green crabs—filling the girls' dormitory and taking possession of the boys'—taking every seat in the center section of Davage Auditorium—dashing and battering about the campus, you cannot help but congratulate you upon your choice of school. In selecting Clark as the place to continue your education you have said, "I believe in the aims and ideas for which Clark College stands, and shall strive to uphold its principles."

Now that registration is over and you are enrolled in the largest class in Clark's history, stop and ask the question, "Why did I come to college?" If you came to socialize, to participate only in sports, or to be a "book-worm," then you have the wrong conception of college. The purpose of college is to develop a well-rounded personality. Socialization without an education or education without socialization will not aid in this development. First, apply yourself diligently to your studies, then take part in the extra-curricular activities afforded by the campus. By so doing in 1948 you will go forth better prepared and equipped to meet the demands of the world.

Remember, you are privileged to continue your education while others die to maintain this privilege. It will be you to whom the world will look for guidance—strive hard, think soberly, aim high, and in twelve months you will be known not as "green-crabs," but as intelligent sophomores.

Dedication

The Panther Staff takes pleasure in dedicating the first issue of the Panther for the 1944-45 school year to the historic freshman class and to the many new students who come this year to study at Clark College. This issue is also dedicate to the new members of the faculty with the expressed hope that they will still share of their knowledge with other students as they enter Clark for the first time.

Our Policy

The policy of the Staff is:

To print the views and opinions of the student body.

To act as a means for student expression.

To encourage the students of Clark College to make regular contributions and to share with the other students their talents.

To do these things it will be necessary for the entire school to co-operate—to see to it that news pertaining to students and of interest reaches the Staff's office in time for publication. We depend upon you to keep the news rolling and we will let you see it in print once a month.

The College Ward Is Too Full

- Of students who think a classroom is a Pullman with a few sleepers and an observation section.
- Of athletes who think that brawn makes up for brains.
- Of Campus Leader Climbers who get offices and then never do a bit of work in them.
- Of Staff members who must "grandstand" officials to keep their jobs.
- Of Alumni who always talk about the "good old days."
- Of one-track mind students whose sun rises and sets in the narrow confines of Greek Letter Organizations.

—Selected.

Our Motto

The college was given its motto by the late Doctor William Henry Cogman, the first Negro to be hired by the Methodist Episcopal Church and the first Negro President. Dr. Crogman's years of service to the institution numbered forty-five years—thirty-eight years as a teacher and seven years as college president.

Deadline for December issue, November 15, 1944.

money for their construction. Haven-Warren Hall, the administration building, was named in honor of Bishop Gilbert Haven and Bishop Warren, two Methodist Bishops whose interest in the early development of Clark was never lacking. Thayer Hall bears the name of Reverend E. O. Thayer, the seventh president, and is the only building on the present site which still bears the name of a building from the old campus.

In the seventy-five years of its existence, Clark has had seventeen presidents. Of these, three, including the president in office, were Negroes. Clark has been fortunate in that its administrators have served and still serve with an uncanny power of love and devotion for the institution. The administration of the college was placed in the hands of Doctor James Philip Brawley in 1941 upon the resignation of Doctor Matthews Simpson Davage, for whom the auditorium is named. He resigned to become Secretary of the Methodist Education Board for Negroes. Prior to Dr. Brawley's election as president he served the institution as Dean of the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences for fifteen years. In the years since Dr. Brawley's election Clark has been strengthened through its endowment, faculty, and students. Although the world is torn asunder in strife, the future of Clark does not seem doubtful.

GREETINGS, FRESHMEN!

such activities as the Men's and Young Women's Christian Associations, Vesper and chapel services, the Philharmonic Society, college band, all forms of athletics, The Literary Symposium, Business Forum, Debating, French, Spanish, Mathematics, Social Science and Dramatic Clubs, the Alpha Delta Alpha Scientific Society, N. A. A. C. P., fraternities and sororities, the Mickies and Minnies and the Tokyo Clubs and several other organizations I have not mentioned.

The sources of education are as varied as the life of man. Such an education is not gained in a few years in school; it is a lifetime enterprise for which formal schooling gives one a good running start.

Finally, my friends, in your endeavors to develop yourselves spiritually, cultural, morally, physically and socially, ask for Divine guidance in the choice of those activities which will enable you to live a life embodying our motto: "Culture for Service."

Congratulations!

Miss Riley

Although it is our loss we, the members of the Clark College Family of more than five hundred and fifty strong, extend our heartiest congratulations to Miss Collye Lee Riley as she leaves after thirteen years of service as Librarian. After serving as an instructor in Library Science at Tennessee A. and I. College, Nashville, Tenn., Miss Riley was offered the job as Catalogue Librarian.

Miss Riley will be missed in many places, as she was active in the social and religious life of this institution. She was the adviser to the Junior Division of the W. S. C. S. and the Library Club in addition to being a member of many of the organizations organized for the promotion of wholesome student life while on the college campus. In the 1942 session of the Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Miss Riley was elected as Southeastern Regional Directress. She was also active in civic and religious activities of Atlanta with church affiliations at The South Atlanta Methodist Church. Wherever she goes, the work done will be done with the utmost efficiency.

In Memorium

Life in all of its beauty has sprinkled throughout its days of sadness and in every family group there comes a time. Within the twelve-month period the Clark Family has been robbed on four occasions of its members—both students and faculty. It is with deep regret the Staff records the death of Mrs. Nellie Linsley Davis on June 1st, 1944, who served this institution as professor of English; and Corporal Charles Henry Gibbs August 5th, 1944, who was a member of the Class of 1944. The death of both individuals leaves a vacancy in the family circle of Clark College.

With Justice To All

Now that the Football season is under way and everyone is getting off on a good start for a successful school year, let's take a peep at the underworld and see what's brewing under-cover that ain't beer! Mr. and Mrs. Tom and their son and daughter, Master and Miss Tom, are not Math Students, but anyone as dumb as they on the sub-ject can see the various angles on the campus this year—most-ly triangles. Even though the school year is still young, the Triangle Club has gotten off to a good start.

Is it Cynthia P. or Lloyd Mid-dleton this year, Talmadge? When is Calvin J. going to de-cide between Josephine Stratt-man and Doris Stinson, or is it a hard matter to decide. Now that Triangle involving Katie McKinney with Portia T. giving her competition for R. H. really is something for you Math Stu-dents to consider.

Little Peeping Tom told Big Peeping Tom that John (Snow-hill) was trying to form a Tri-angle with Nora Spotts and Sa-rah Gannaway—what about it Snowhill? That famous triangle of last year was broken this summer when Inell said "I do" to Boop L., leaving poor Ruth without the army to keep her warm. Oh, well, maybe R. L. ain't going to lose sleep after she decides between Joe Wil-liams and Paul Sanford of the "House."

Triangles are not the only things of interest on Clark's Campus, 'cause as long as homes and the boys from the Homies come around there'll be other things to tell. Kind of nice to see your old "S. P." William Barnes, on the campus, wasn't it, Evelyn T.?

Old "Skin Man" (D. R.) fell in late from Chicago via Knox-ville, Tenn., with a new line of ive, plenty ambition and skin. Wonder which will win out, the jive or the books?

Better get new boots, A. Adams, 'cause it seems as if Ogust Mai is just giving you the run around . . . guess that is life, too . . . I mean the run-ning around.

George Allen made two trips to Chattanooga this summer—was it to see E. L. or C. S.?

Generally, when the cats are away, the mice will play . . . maybe Richard B. will pick up on Dorothy Payne again . . . who knows . . . we don't. . .

Wonder what football hero will it be for Mildred B. this season? . . .

Say, Ludelle White—aren't you Rocking the cradle this year?

Is D. E. going to Clark or Morehouse?

Will someone teach Thelma Howell the words to "Young Man Blues"?

Why does Johnny C. head off the Campus? Is it to study or visit in the city?

So Long,
"Peeping Tom."

Clark Tramples Daniel Field

With the playing of "Here Comes Old C. U.," the Clark Panthers were led onto the grid-iron by their captain, Reginald Haynes. Loud applause was au-dible as more than thirty men, rearing to go, made the rounds of Harper's Field. In time for the kickoff, the first team went forth with full armor to meet the Army Red Devils, who were later to go down in defeat.

The ball was received by Da-vid Harper approximately one minute after the kick-off, who ran twenty yards for the first touchdown of the game. The point was missed after Alter-nate Captain Talmage Owens blocked a punt made by the Army on their twenty-yard line. During the same period two passes were made—the first to Captain Haynes, who ran for fif-teen yards and the second also to Haynes, which fell incomplete. In the third half of the first quarter Harper made the second touchdown after a first attempt failed when he reached the dou-ble strip line. The two points in the first half brought the score to: Clark 14, Army 0. The two points were made possible when the "Roaring" Panthers pushed the Army back and scored for a safety play.

Although the odds as to weight and height was well in favor of the Army's Red Devils, the Panthers fought with bull-dog tenacity to hold their line. The Red Devils tried to pierce the fighting Panthers' line on several occasions and succeeded when their efforts were reward-ed and they managed to gain two points from a safety play. These points came as a result of a pass made to Harper which failed.

On the sidelines sat the other half of Clark's fighting team of more than five hundred and fifty students gloriously arrayed in the school's colors, giving of their energy through their yells to spur the team on to victory. Mr. Carver led the band in ap-propriate music for the occasion and was assisted by the Cheer-ing Squad. First it was "Give Me That Old C. U. Spirit," then "What Is Wrong With the Team," and others, which made the team roar back through their actions, "That the team was all right."

Coach Charles McPherson and his staff used grand strategy in making regular substitutions throughout the game. This kept the first team from becoming overworked and in shape to maintain the line that it was fighting to hold. Because of the substitutions it makes it impos-sible to single out any one man of the team as the star of the game. Harper, Haynes, Colquitt, Small, Owens, James, Slocum, Jennings, and the other mem-bers of the team too large to enumerate started out at two o'clock to bring home the bacon and, with that determination, succeeded in winning the initial game of the season for Clark by a score of 14-2. The major in-juries were inflicted by the Pan-thers on the Red Devils (if there were any).

The Birth of Our College Song

We of today, who sing, "There's a School on a Hill," lit-tle realize how this song came into existence. In the fall of 1920, Dr. Andrew King, then President of Clark University, offered a prize of five dollars for the best original song which would express the ideals of the University and its students.

After hearing the appeal of Dr. King, Morrison went home and composed the song over-night. The tune he used was that of "Mother Machree," in honor of his beloved and older sister, the late wife of Mr. W. T. Cun-ningham, an alumnus. She had encouraged and aided him finan-cially in his struggle to get an education. The tune was her fa-vorite. By ballot, the students and faculty voted for the pres-ent song, which was written by Herbert Morrison, a member of the Freshman Class.

Herbert Morriion, as a student, was respected by all for his man-ly qualities and appreciation of beauty. To these was added his natural flair for writing, which he demonstrated in the many poems he wrote. Mr. Morrison is now employed as a clerk in the Post Office Department in New York City.
