

Gail Malone Crowned "Miss Morris Brown"

Homecoming Edition

Homecoming Message From The President

Homecoming is always a happy time for the Morris Brown College family. The sons and daughter of the institution come back to the campus to renew memories and to give us the stimulation and inspiration of their presence. Our friends and patrons, not tied to us by direct family ties, nonetheless become once more a part of us and of our tradition of loyalty and hospitality. We meet each other and tell each other the hundred year old story of comradeship. Once again we recreate and strengthen our college as we move into the second century.

We are particularly happy on this Homecoming to welcome our friends from Bethune Cookman College. This college, as much as any other in the nation, is representative of the spirit and the aspirations which have moved many men and women to high achievement. Today's game is more than a football game, it is a symbol of the cordial relationship that exists between Morris Brown College and Bethune Cookman College.

Once again, we on the campus are in the position to demonstrate to our alumni, our friends, our patrons and our visitors that we are "A haven for all hungry souls, and a maker of men and women who are prepared to live and willing to serve."

May we keep the faith with their hope: Our physical growth is, we hope, but one measure of an expanding and vital service which all may use.

We extend our sincerest greetings to you in this our Centennial year — A Century of Pride and Strength — We are Marketing Morris Brown College, We can, We must and We will make a difference.

ROBERT THREATT

photo by Sandra Clark

Queen of the annual homecoming celebration October 17, 1981, was gracious Gail Malone of Atlanta, Georgia. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Malone. Miss Malone is a senior majoring in Health and Physical Education and a member of the Circle K Club, head majorette of the Marching Wolverines, and a member of the Penn Club.

Horatio Miller Visits Morris Brown And Gives Great Performance

by Keith Porter

Horatio Miller takes time out to sign autographs. photo by Sandra Clark

After four years Horatio Miller returns to Morris Brown College and plays some beautiful music. September 27, 1981, will long be remembered by the impressive concert Mr. Miller gave to a capacity crowd in Cunningham Auditorium.

The first part of the concert included: Seven Preludes, from "Twenty Four Preludes" by Richard Cumming, No. 1 in C Major No. 2 in C Minor, No. 3 in D Flat Major, No. 4 in C Sharp Minor, No. 12 in F. Minor, No. 15 in G Major and No. 24 in B Minor, followed by intermesso in A Major, Opus 118, No. 2, by Johannes Brahms, Rhapsody in E Flat Minor, opus 119, No. 4 by Johannes Brahms and Ballade in A flat Major, Opus 47 by Frederic Chopin.

After a brief intermission, Pianist Miller opened the second part of the program with Sonata Number One (in three movements) by Ned Rorem, then Mephisto Waltz Number One by Franz Liszt.

The audience seemed to enjoy his performance very much.

Many listeners projected an image of amazement as they watched his display of great talent at the piano. He appeared to have fascinated the hearers with his forceful, yet graceful drive and sometimes rugged hand movements. Mr. Miller plays the piano in a skillful and dynamic manner.

Mr. Miller received a standing ovation at the closing of his concert. Following his performance he began signing autographs and posing for pictures. Finally, I gained a chance to speak directly to him. I asked Mr. Miller what prompted him to play the piano. "I felt that I had something valuable to say through music." Mr. Miller's advice to all of the young musicians at Morris Brown College who would like to pursue a career in the performing arts is that you must be eager and ambitious. He stressed the fact that the performing arts business is very competitive and full of hard knocks.

Future musicians may like to
Continued on page 3

The Wolverine Observer Staff

Editor-in-Chief

Ronald D. Fudge

Co-Editor

Susan Ashe

Entertainment Editors

Sandra Clark

Beth Allen

Feature Editor

Mark Williams

Sports Editor

Lawrence Flournoy

Photo Editor

Corey Johnson

Photographers

Sandra Clark

Lawrence Flournoy

Advertising Staff

Charissee Vivian

Roy Myers

Public Relations Manager

Damon Moaney

Reporters

Joyce C. Lee

Camilla Clay

Carl Walton

Sandra Clark

Stanely Freeman

Robin Murray

Carl Walton

Greek Editor

Robin Murray

Faculty Advisor

Dr. Roy L. Hill

The Wolverine Observer is designed to inform the students, faculty and administration of Morris Brown College, and to serve as a communication channel between the Morris Brown family and the community. The Wolverine Observer reserves the right to edit articles. Opinions expressed in articles and letters are those of the author and do not necessarily reflect either the opinions or policies of the college.

Member of the Georgia College Press Association

Photo by C.J.

Letter From The Editor's Desk

Welcome alumni, visiting schools, clubs, organizations, royal court members from other campuses, and others to Morris Brown's Centennial Homecoming.

All that have come are experiencing Morris Brown's most opportune moment. This Centennial year is in celebration of what happened in 1881.

Today as we march the streets with our high-flying colors of purple and black, it is indeed a Morris Brown College Family celebration.

When I mention family, I think of all the alumni, friends and supporters that have helped through the struggle of keeping Morris Brown "a haven for all hungry souls." As a presently enrolled student myself, and I think I can speak for my fellow colleagues as well, it is noticeable that our mere existence is solely built upon a deep rooted, rich, and educational legacy. Our theme entitled "Elegance in Motion" is truly the epitome of Homecoming Week. With the waving of the banners, the cheering and chants promoting school spirit, the jubilation of the Marching band, the crowing of our Centennial Queen, dancing at dawn, and just bringing back all of the Morris Brown College Family adds to the finale of this great moment in our history. Consider yourself honored to be here!

The Free Enterprise Institute of Morris Brown

The Free Enterprise Institute of Morris Brown College provides a college setting for creating and developing more effective means of relating the American enterprise system to students. The Institute seeks to build a better understanding of the system among the students through association with business leaders and to involve the business community in a dialogue with the college community.

The purpose of the Institute is to promote a closer relationship between business and professional people on the one hand and educators and students on the other, particularly with respect to their perceptions of how each fits into the successful functioning of America's private enterprise system.

The Free Enterprise Institute operates as an agency of the College, with a Director from the faculty and part-time student assistance. Policy is set and overall direction is provided by the Institute's Board of Directors, which includes representatives from both the business and college communities. The membership of the Institute comes from the ranks of business and professional leadership, locally and nationally. The members of the Institute elect a president and members of the Board of Directors annually.

Sept. Seminar

About 250 students attended the first two-hour seminar of the Free Enterprise Institute to hear the advice and insights offered by five prominent Atlanta-area businessmen. There was a standing-room-only crowd at the outset of the program. Integrity, character, hard work, determination, and abilities, as well as qualifications, and finding a market, were stressed to the students as necessary ingredients in organizing and maintaining a business. Money was not emphasized as the most important aspect of establishing a business. Each speaker indicated the small amount of funds used to begin his business.

The Moderator and Chairman of the Institute, Dillard Munford, Chairman of Munford, Inc., which owns the nation's second largest convenience store chain, offered encouragement: "None of us had any money or influence. We all started our businesses from scratch."

Therman McKenzie, Vice President of M & M Products, manufacturer of Sta-Sof-Fro, a black entrepreneur, advised the students: "To improve the economics of the black community, you need qualifications."

"It helps to grow up on the poor side because you learn to do so much with so little," commented Roy Richards, Chairman and President of Southwire Corporation, who went into business with a loan from one of his professors at Georgia Tech.

Charles Loudermilk, President and Chief Executive of Aaron Rents, Inc., said that he also grew up "on the wrong side of the tracks." His advice: "You have to be able to read people, to deal with people."

"You have to find and fill a need, and do it better than anybody else," observed Robert Redfearn, Chairman and Chief Executive of Redfern Foods Corporation.

Student response was very favorable toward the program. A question and answer period followed the remarks from the panel. The questions revealed an interest in the seminar and in private business. The comments offered were very positive, and commended the program as "... a step in the right direction."

Oct. Seminar

The Free Enterprise Institute of Morris Brown College sponsored its second business seminar on Oct. 13, 1981 at 10:00 a.m. in the Viola J. Hill Auditorium, Fountain Hall.

Dr. Robert Threatt, president of Morris Brown College, opened the seminar. Deborah Bell, student member of the Institute Board of Directors, brought greetings. Rev. Willie Christian, Director of Student Activities, at Morris Brown, gave the invocation.

The moderator of the Institute

Continued on page 3

Herndon Stadium Receives Facelift

by Sandra D. Clark

Herndon Stadium is receiving a facelift for the 1981 - 82 school year. Members of the Morris Brown Football team, along with members of the Student Government Association and the band joined in a team effort on Saturday Oct. 3 to give the stadium a new purple and white face lift.

Eric Carter, President of the SGA stated, "The 1981 - 82 SGA decided that we would make a long awaited dream come true. With the support of Dean Wilkerson and Dr. Charleston, the football team, the band and other interested Morris Brown loving students, we decided to complete the project."

A few members of the football team however, expressed their disappointment in not seeing more of the student body helping out. "I feel all right because we're going to play in it. We take pride in it," commented a member of the team Phillippe Fullwood. When asked how he felt about having to paint the stadium he replied, "I am just a little dissappointed in not getting more help."

When asked why the paint and clean up job wasn't more of a joint effort involving the whole student body, Eric Carter had this to say . . . "We did not have enough equipment to employ the entire student body. There will be other programs coming up, and we will call on the students. This is but one of a number of activities that the 1981 - 82 SGA plans to do throughout the year."

photo by Sandra Clark

-Miller-

Continued from page 1

know that the top pianist living today make as much as $20,000 dollars a concert. They also perform an average of about 150 concerts a year. The performing arts business is very competitive but it is also very rewarding if you can reach the top.

Homecoming '81

Morris Brown vs. Bethune Cookman

Speak Up

Welcome Visiting Schools, Queens, Courts, etc.

-Institute-

Continued from page 2

was Charles Loudermilk, President of Aaron Rents, Inc. Loudermilk is also a member of the Institute Board of Directors.

The first speaker for the Institute was Mr. W. L. Calloway, owner of Calloway Real Estate Co., who told about his beginnings in real estate. Next was Mr. Jeff Davidson, President and General Manager at W.X.I.A. Television Station (NBC). He spoke about how he got started in his profession. Mr. Thomas R. Williams, Chairman and Chief Executive of First National Bank of Atlanta gave an informative overview of the Bank's role. Last on the program was Mr. Clayton J. Edwards, owner of Edwards Funeral Home and also a city councilman in Fort Valley, Georgia. He is a graduate of Morris Brown College.

The theme of the seminar was "Successful Management". The successful members of the panel were timely with their useful remarks about their lives and their businesses.

The Business students along, with other interested students had a rare opportunity to meet and hear real giants in the field of Business.

What do you plan to do with the title of Miss Morris Brown College?

Miss Morris Brown College 1981-82 — Gail Malone

photo by Sandra Clark

I plan to do whatever I can to represent the school at my best, and the task of being Miss Morris

Brown is a challenge and I accept the responsibilities in filling the duties of the title.

Welcome Alumni!!

"REFLECTIONS

IMAGES"

Layout by C.J.

Photographs by C.J.,
Sandra Clark,
and Lawrence Flournoy

FACES .. PLACES ... AND THINGS

FACES . . PLACES . . . AND THINGS

Photographs by C.J.

Layout by C.J.

WHAT COULD THE ARMY POSSIBLY OFFER A BRIGHT PERSON LIKE YOU?

Drop your guard for a minute. Even though you're in college right now, there are many aspects of the Army that you might find very attractive.

Maybe even irresistible. See for yourself.

MED SCHOOL, ON US

You read it right.

The Army's Health Professions Scholarship Program provides necessary tuition, books, lab fees, even microscope rental during medical school.

Plus a monthly stipend that works out to about $6,000 a year.

After you're accepted into medical school, you can be accepted into our program. Then you're commissioned and you go through school as a Second Lieutenant in the Army Reserve.

The hitch? Very simple. After you graduate, you give the Army a year as a doctor for every year the Army gave you as a med student, with a minimum obligation of three years' service.

INTERNSHIP, RESIDENCY & CASH BONUSES

Besides scholarships to medical school, the Army also offers AMA-approved first-year post-graduate and residency training programs.

Such training adds no further obligation to the scholarship participant. But any Civilian Graduate Medical Education sponsored by the Army gives you a one-year obligation for every year of sponsorship, with a minimum obligation of two years' service.

But you get a $9,000 annual bonus every year you're paying back medical school or post-graduate training.

So you not only get your medical education paid for, you get extra pay while you're paying it back. Not a bad deal.

A GREAT PLACE TO BE A NURSE

The rich tradition of Army Nursing is one of excellence, dedication, even heroism. And it's a challenge to live up to.

Today, an Army Nurse is the epitome of professionalism, regarded as a critical member of the Army Medical Team.

A BSN degree is required. And the clinical spectrum is almost impossible to match in civilian practice.

And, since you'll be an Army Officer, you'll enjoy more respect and authority than most of your civilian counterparts. You'll also enjoy travel opportunities, officer's pay and officer's privileges.

Army Nursing offers educational opportunities that are second to none. As an Army Nurse, you could be selected for graduate degree programs at civilian universities.

ADVANCED NURSING COURSE, TUITION-FREE

You get tuition, pay and living allowances. You can also take Nurse Practitioner courses and courses in many clinical specialties. All on the Army.

While these programs do not cost you any money, most of them do incur an additional service obligation.

A CHANCE TO PRACTICE LAW

If you're about to get your law degree and be admitted to the bar, you should consider a commission in the Judge Advocate General Corps. Because in the Army you get to practice law right from the start.

While your classmates are still doing other lawyers' research and other lawyers' briefs, you could have your own cases, your own clients, in effect, your own practice.

Plus you'll have the pay, prestige and privileges of being an Officer in the United States Army. With a chance to travel and make the most of what you've worked so hard to become. A real, practicing lawyer. Be an Army Lawyer.

ROTC SCHOLARSHIPS

Though you're too late for a 4-year scholarship, there are 3-, 2-, and even 1-year scholarships available.

They include tuition, books, and lab fees. Plus $100 a month living allowance. Naturally they're very competitive. Because besides helping you towards your degree, an ROTC scholarship helps you towards the gold bars of an Army Officer.

Stop by the ROTC office on campus and ask about details.

UP TO $170 A MONTH

You can combine service in the Army Reserve or National Guard with Army ROTC and get between $7,000 and $14,000 while you're still in school.

It's called the Simultaneous Membership Program. You get $100 a month as an Advanced Army ROTC Cadet and an additional $70 a month (sergeant's pay) as an Army Reservist.

When you graduate, you'll be commissioned as a Second Lieutenant, but not necessarily assigned to active duty. Find out about it.

A BONUS FOR PART-TIME WORK

You can get a $1,500 bonus just for enlisting in some Army Reserve units. Or up to $4,000 in educational benefits.

You also get paid for your Reserve duty. It comes out to about $1,100 a year for one weekend a month and two weeks annual training.

And now we have a special program to help you fit the Army Reserve around your school schedule.

It's worth a look.

A SECOND CHANCE AT COLLEGE

Some may find college to be the right place at the wrong time for a variety of reasons. The Army can help them, too.

A few years in the Army can help them get money for tuition and the maturity to use it wisely.

The Army has a program in which money saved for college is matched two-for-one by the government. Then, if one qualifies, a generous bonus is added to that.

So 2 years of service can get you up to $15,200 for college. 3 and 4 years up to $20,100. In addition, bonuses up to $5,000 are available for 4-year enlistments in selected skills.

Add in the experience and maturity gained, and the Army can send an individual back to college a richer person in more ways than one.

We hope these Army opportunities have intrigued you as well as surprised you. Because there is indeed a lot the Army can offer a bright person like you.

For more information, send the coupon.

Please tell me more about: (AM) Medical School and Army Medicine.
 (AN) the Army Nurse Corps. (AL) Army Law.
 (FR) ROTC Scholarships. (SS) Army Reserve Bonuses.
 (PC) Army Education Benefits.

NAME _____

ADDRESS _____

CITY _____ STATE _____ ZIP _____

SCHOOL ATTENDING _____ DATE OF BIRTH _____

Send to: ARMY OPPORTUNITIES, P.O. BOX 300
 NORTH HOLLYWOOD, CALIF 91603

BE ALL YOU CAN BE. ARMY.

Note: To insure receipt of information requested, all blanks must be completed
 42C55001 10PC