

DEMONSTRATION, THEN VIOLENCE

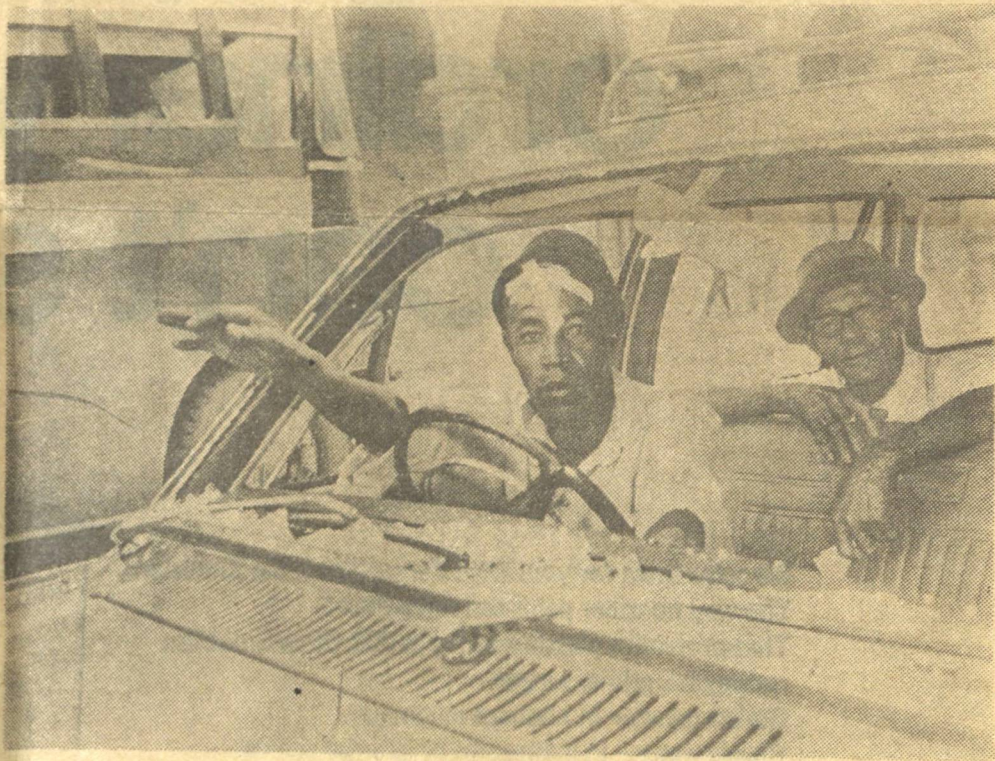

DEMONSTRATING UWI students with one of the many placards they carried on Wednesday: HUMAN RIGHTS POSTPONED.

STUDENTS of the University of the West Indies as they march past Gordon House on Duke Street, on Wednesday to protest against the banning from the island, by the Government, the re-entry of Dr. Walter Rodney, a History lecturer of the UWI.

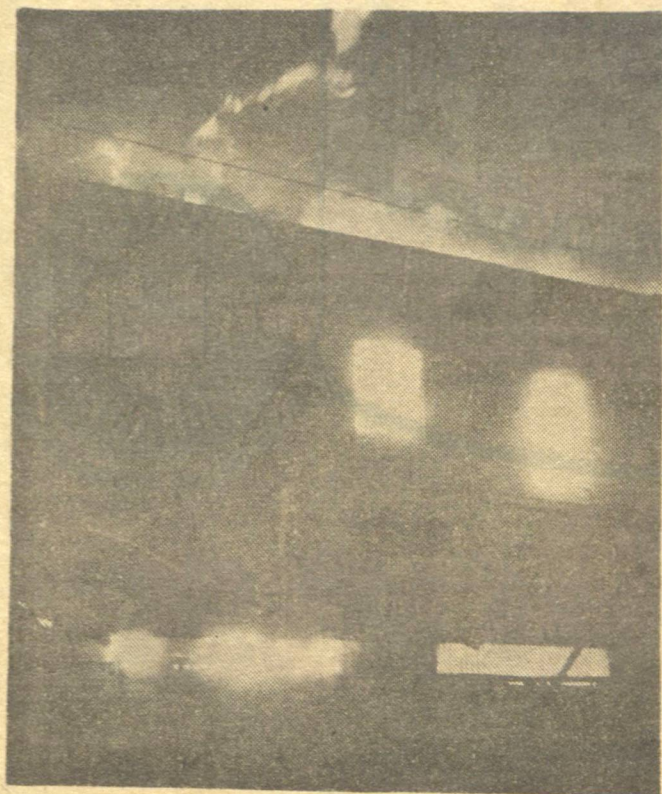

STONES AND BOTTLES thrown by mobsters did extensive damage to Marzouca's Electrical Supplies building on Orange Street, on Wednesday.

MR. CECIL KERR, of 84 North Street, is seen with his right hand extended through the open space of the front of his Vauxhall van, which he said was smashed, in the vicinity of A. C. Marzouca Ltd., on Wednesday evening, after he refused to hand over a white boy who was in the vehicle at the time, to mobsters. He is wearing a plaster over a wound, in which he told the STAR that he received four stitches, at the Kingston Public Hospital.

ONE OF THE BUILDINGS on fire, on Wednesday night, during the wave of violence, which followed the demonstration, by students of the UWI earlier in the day. This was taken on Spanish Town Road.

THIS MOTORCAR was abandoned by its owner, by the intersection of Orange and North Streets, on Wednesday, as the angels of destruction hurled stones, bottles and other missiles at the vehicle, smashing the side, back and windscreen glasses.

A BEAT POLICEMAN views the smashed show case of Van-Del's store, on King Street. This was one of the buildings that were damaged as a result of the wave of violence which followed the demonstration of students of the UWI on Wednesday.