

Faculty Continues To Be Strengthened

Morehouse starts the year off with a bang by adding a little bright glory to its faculty. This year we have Dr. Henry C. Hamilton, who for a number of years served jointly on faculties of Morehouse and Atlanta University as professor of education. He is on our staff as registrar, replacing Mr. John P. Whittaker, who retired last June. Dr. Hamilton holds the B. A. degree from Atlanta University, the M. A. from the University of Pittsburgh, and the Ed. D. from the University of Cincinnati.

Dr. William Braun, a native of Vienna, Austria, is being added to the faculty of the department of Modern Foreign Languages as professor of German. He replaced Dr. P. L. Hannak, also an Austrian, who was retired last June, 1953. Dr. Braun holds the B. A., M. A. and the Ph. D. degrees from the University of Toronto, in whose University College he has been serving as lecturer in German.

Wendell P. Whalum, a 1952 graduate of Morehouse who has just been awarded the M. A. degree in Music by Columbia University, is joining the faculty as a member of the Department of Music. Mark G. Birchette, B. A., Morehouse; M. A., Atlanta University, is being added to the staff of the Bursar's Office, (Mr. Birchette was formerly on the staff of Dillard University). Charles E. Hubert, B. S., Georgia State College (now Savannah State); M. S., Atlanta University, will teach in the Department of Biology. Roswell Jackson, B. S., Morehouse, will be in the Department of Chemistry.

Waldo Whatley has been appointed Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds, replacing Clinton E. Warner, who has been added to the staff of the Personnel Department. Dr. D. L. Boger, a member of the staff of the Personnel Department, will become, in addition, a part-time member of the academic faculty, teaching classes in psychology, education, and French. A Howard University graduate, Mr. Boger holds the degree in Personnel and Guidance from Columbia, and the M. A. degree in French from McGill University in Canada. In addition, he has satisfied all requirements except the thesis for the doctorate in personnel and guidance at Columbia, where, for the last two years, he has been studying.

Also returning after leave for advanced study leading to the doctorate is Professor G. Murray Branch of the faculty of the School of Religion.

GRAD RECORD EXAM DATES ANNOUNCED

The Graduate Record Examinations, required of applicants for admission to a number of graduate schools, will be administered at examination centers throughout the country four times in the coming year, Educational Testing Service has announced. During 1952-53 more than 9,000 students took the GRE on Saturday, November 14. In 1954, the dates are January 30, May 1, and July 10. ETS advises each applicant to inquire of the graduate school of his choice which of the examinations he should take and on which dates. Applicants for graduate school fellowships should ordinarily take the designated examinations in the fall administration.

FRESHMEN INVADE CAMPUS, GIVE ORGANIZATION BOOST

Totalling 222 strong, one of the largest freshman classes in history of the school embarked upon its academic career by arriving here for Freshman Week, Monday, September 14th.

After being welcomed to Morehouse College on Monday morning by Dr. Benjamin E. Mays, president of the College, the "Class of 1957" began a program of orientation which included instruction in the use of the library; meeting with the faculty and the president of the student Association, Mr. M. B. Olatunji; a Freshman "Get-Together," a strenuous testing program; health examinations, consultation with faculty advisers, a joint social with the freshman class of Spelman College, religious activities and at home one afternoon with the College president.

British Scholarships Result of Marshall Aid

As a gesture of thanks for Marshall's aid, the British government has decided to establish a series of annual "Marshall Scholarships" to enable Americans to study at British Universities.

The wards will be made to United States citizens only, men or women under the age of 28, who have graduated from accredited colleges or universities in the United Kingdom for two years in the first instance, with a possible extension to three years.

Twelve awards will be made every year and places will be found in the United Kingdom universities for successful candidates. The value of each award will be 500 pounds a year with an extra 200 pounds a year for a married student.

Applications for the Academic year 1954-55 must be received not later than November 1, 1953. Further information may be obtained from: (1) the appropriate advisers at American Universities or (2) the nearest British consulate or (3) British Information Services, 30 Rockefeller Plaza, New York 20, N. Y.

Application forms and a Bulletin of Information, which provide details of registration and administration as well as sample questions, may be obtained from college advisers or directly from Educational Testing Service, P. O.

While not the largest freshman class to enroll at Morehouse, being exceeded by the class which entered in 1946 whose official count was 317 students and the class which enrolled in 1947 which totaled 246, this class may prove to be one of the best.

In all areas the members of this class have greatly increased the extra-curricular strength of the college. Twenty-two members of the Maroon Tiger staff are freshmen. Exactly one-half of the forty-eight members of the College Band, almost half of the sixty-two members of the Glee Club are freshmen. Of the forty-eight members of the Tiger varsity football team, seventeen are members of this year's freshman class.

Approximately one-half of the incoming freshmen reside in states outside of Georgia, and extending from California to New York, from Florida to Michigan. Over 50 per cent of this year's class are scholarship holders or holders of some type of student aid. Forty-eight of the students have been awarded full tuition scholarships; twenty-one have been presented half-tuition scholarships; twenty-eight are holders of Ford Foundation Scholarships. One hundred and ten of the freshmen plan to enter the science departments of the College; seventy-four anticipate entering departments of other than science, while the other students have not as yet decided about their major field of concentration.

All in all this should be an outstanding year — with such diversified interests as these.

PRESIDENT OLATUNJI

STUDENT BODY PREXY OUTLINES OBJECTIVES

Realizing that the growth, progress and success of any group rests mainly in the hands of the individuals composing it, and that leadership must be commensurate with responsibility, President Olatunji has set forth the following objectives for his administration:

1. To revive the Morehouse Spirit.
2. To strive to be Morehouse Gentlemen for effective leadership.
3. To bridge the gap between us and other colleges in the university system with better social programs for a better wholesome relationship.
4. To plan activities that will bring back to our campus ethical principles embodied in the Christian faith.
5. To keep and uphold the ideals and reputation of Morehouse College.

Beta Kappa Chi Initiates Associate Membership Plan

The Alpha Beta Chapter of the Beta Kappa Chi Honorary Scientific Society will launch its 1953-54 school year activities by initiating an associate membership plan. This program was officially announced by Mr. W. Rowan Sanders, president of the chapter.

Mr. Sanders stated that the associate membership program is designed primarily to interest students who have not yet accumulated thirty semester hours of science (which is a requisite for membership), but have good averages to become associate members of the organization. This will enable the students to become intimately connected with the mechanisms and purposes of the organization before fully attaining membership. It is felt that a student having toiled for two or more years and having obtained thirty semester hours of science with a "B" average has little time to become intimately attached to the organization as he should.

"The student who wishes to become a member of the scientific organization now has an early goal toward which to strive," said Mr. Sanders. "But," he also added, "if a student fails to continue to maintain his average after becoming an associate member, his association with the organization will be dissolved automatically." That old adage, "there is no rest for the weary," still holds.

BAND SHOWS MUCH PROMISE THIS YEAR

Hail to the incoming Morehouse Maroon and White Band of 1953-54, who hold great promise of rendering some of the finest band music ever! The statement given by Mr. Wendell Whalum, our new band director, best describes the new band: "This year's band is one of the finest that Morehouse has had and it is very promising for an effective concert season." He further stated that, "the group is very eager to rehearse and develop an excellent playing facility."

Freshman participation in the band is excellent this year, in that the band consists of 50 members, 20 of whom are freshmen. The freshmen, as well as the upper classmen in the band are to be highly congratulated for their intense loyalty and interest in the band. Much musical talent is to be found among the members of the band, and it will certainly become evident as the year moves on.

Several appearances will be made during the year, other than those on the campus. Their first appearance is scheduled for tonight, October 16, when Morehouse plays Alabama State. Major band marches will be played by the band on this occasion as well as on many more.

According to the new all-year plan which was related to us by Mr. Whalum, the band will go into strictly concert work following the close of football season. This will add greatly to the cultural atmosphere at Morehouse and the University as a whole.

Great are the expectations of the faculty and students of Morehouse, but even greater are the

THE WAY OF A DEMOCRACY

Some things appeal to our emotions, because they are beautiful, others to our reason, because they are practical. It is from a practical point of view that I think we, as Morehouse Men, should have a deeper respect for democracy—for we have seen it work.

I have a specific reference to our last student body election, which to me, in a sense, was doubly democratic.

Not only was it conducted in the typical democratic fashion of our elections, but also because we, somewhat dissatisfied at the first results, reconsidered completely our first ballot and conducted a reelection, which resulted in the change of several positions and the electorate was satisfied. Under no other system of government on our globe could such be duplicated with resulting harmony.

A democracy is so designed that the will of the majority determines the actions of the group. Our student government here at the college is truly a democracy. As a result of our action in our last election the present student government, headed by President Michael B. Olatunji, indubitably, contains the confidence of the majority. Certainly our government this year will make unparalleled strides with such unquestionable support.

President Olatunji has cited his program to the student body and your representatives compose the student council, so lets back the program and make it work.

We have exercised the rights that are ours under a democratic rule, likewise, as fervently, accept its responsibilities — this is the way of a democracy.

FROM THE SOUL

Editors' Note: Caught in the typical frenzy of meeting the press deadline—no one noticing too much what was going on around us, this clipping was slipped into our basket. We do not know the author, but surely this is the result of a sincere moment. The evident concern of the writer in his work impressed us, so we pass it on to you for what it is worth.

Have I Taught Them

"Years after year they have come to me,

Students with questing looks, year after year they have lifted me

As they left their outgrown books And I wonder now if I have taught them

Just some of those worthwhile things,

Some of those things they'll need in life

Be they peasants, poets, or Kings.

Of course, I've taught them civics and history

And how to divide and add,

But I wonder if they know that this is not all

That it takes to make life sad or glad.

Have I taught them the value of smiling

When things are at their worst? Do they know that there's nothing that helps like a song,

When their hearts seem ready to burst.

Have I taught them that fear is a coward,

Who is beaten when they say "I can"?

That courtesy ranks with courage In the heart of a real gentleman?

Have I taught them these things and others

That will help make them brave, kind and true,

I don't know, But if I haven't, then I have failed

For that's what I was supposed to do."

A CAUSTIC THOUGHT, WE WONDER

We live in, perhaps, the greatest country in the world today. We are thought to have the highest level of living of any other nation in the history of civilization, and yet we wonder.

We have observed at many eating places: restaurants, country clubs, kitchens, dining halls, and we find that they have one thing in common—wasted food. It seems that our pigs are fed better than many of the people of the world, and we wonder. . . . why waste?

MUSIC DEPT. GETS SHOT IN THE ARM

Morehouse has two additions to its music department—a new director, and a new building. One passing through the campus is quickly bombarded by the melodic voices of singing males, and the blaring notes of our college band as the new director whips his men into shape for this year's obligations.

The new director is Wendell P. Whalum, Morehouse graduate of the class of '51. From Morehouse he went to Columbia University in New York City, and received his M. A. in music education. Now he is back at Morehouse as the music director, succeeding Professor Kemper Harrel.

The new music building until recently was a workshop and formerly, a lounge for veterans. Now it is the newest and one of the most welcome additions to the campus. This building has a front room large enough for a band or orchestra; it has an office for the music director, and a storage room for instruments.

We, the Maroon Tiger Staff, tip our hats to the new director and to the band and glee club. May success follow you always.

Dear Editor:

Probably the most flagrant injustice to the Negro in all of American publishing is being perpetrated daily in the comic strip "Joe Palooka". This is a prize-fighting story strip in which all of the fighters are white, whereas in real life a majority of the champions are Negroes.

Actually, Negroes do appear in the strip from time to time, but always in a servant capacity, and the reader is supposed to think they're funny because of their ignorance and subservience.

This un-American attempt to pit group against group is especially dangerous because people tend to think of a comic strip as harmless, forgetting that it can plant prejudice in the peculiarly receptive minds of children and young people. As you know, this large age group is especially dangerous and important.

A recent story in the strip provides additional evidence of a subtle attempt to feed prejudice. The scene is Australia, and Australian natives take an important part in the action. In the drawing these Australians are black, and the story continually reiterates how savage they are. Having read this story day in and day out for many weeks, youngsters would unconsciously absorb the idea that black people are savages.

Yours for an America free of racial prejudice!

Sincerely,
 Don Munson

THE YARD-STICK

More than a century and a half ago Adam Smith stated his opinion as follows: "Consumption is the sole end of all production; and the interest of the producer ought to be attended to only so far as it may be necessary for promoting that of the consumer."

Consumption pertains to the Satisfaction of wants.

As the recently ended war in Korea and the aftermaths of the effects gradually diminish; there must be a readjustment in the American business world. Why is this necessary? This is necessary because business in order not to corrupt itself must respond to the electorate, that is, the consumer with his demanding power.

The factor that will determine whether a depression or a boom will occur in the American economy is consumption.

History bears irrevocable and persistent testimony to the fact that the desire for the satisfaction of human wants has created both catastrophic and commendable results. The American, French and Russian revolutions, as well as the coup d'etat that occurred in Iran several weeks ago, and the two World Wars, 1914-18 and 1939-45 are the results of economic rivalry and a struggle for a fair share of the goods that men consume.

The commercial revolution of the 16th Century and its co-functionaire the Industrial Revolution (that hasn't ended yet) are reflective of the growing and perpetual consumption interest of man.

When the great Depression of the early 1930's occurred the most effective of the remedies employed was that one of "priming the pump" by pouring dollars into the consumers' laps so as to create, to use Keyneo Classic phrase, "the propensity to consume" and its complementary results "the inducement to invest". Herbert Hoover never realized the importance of consumption and geared his administration toward the best interest (in part) of the productive element in the economy and failed to gain the confidence of the American people because of the oversight.

Many theories have been advanced to explain the cause of depression, but I believe that the late Lord Keynes' struck the point when he said in essence that under consumption causes depression.

DR. FRANKLIN L. FORBES

COACH FORBES GETS DOCTORATE

It has been announced to the Tiger that Mr. Franklin L. Forbes, director of physical education here at Morehouse College, has been awarded his doctorate in education at New York University's School of Education.

Dr. Forbes has long been a figure in sports here at the College, and is one of the most respected coaches in this area. Besides heading the athletic department, he coaches the basketball team, which, by the way, placed third in the SIAC conference standings last year.

Dr. Forbes wrote his doctorate thesis on "A Four Year Undergraduate Physical Education Curriculum for Men at the Atlanta University Center." The topic, he says, is in line with his major interest. "One of my ambitions," Coach Forbes states, "is to coordinate the resources of the five colleges of the Atlanta University Center in the operation of a thorough undergraduate professional physical education curriculum."

Dr. Forbes is a member of the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation; the National Coaches Association; and the American Football Coaches Association.

JACKIE ROBINSON ON AIR FOR COMMUNITY CAMPAIGNS

NEW YORK—Urging his listeners to "make the world of tomorrow today," Jackie Robinson, star of the Brooklyn Dodgers, made a nation-wide radio plea for contributions to the United Community Campaigns, which are now under way throughout the nation. President Eisenhower spoke on the same program.

With Ray Bolger, top humorist, Cab Calloway, Jane Froman, Fibber McGee, and other stage and screen stars, on an hour-long variety show last week, Jackie said in the world of tomorrow he expects that when people meet each other, they will actually be able to "see each other".

"Not the clothes they wear, or the names they have, or the name of their religion or the color of their skin," he said, "but just each other as human beings—to be accepted on the basis of individual merit."

Although this is a small thing, the star National League player asserted, it is a goal toward which the human race has been struggling for thousands of years. Pointing out that we do not have to wait until tomorrow to realize that goal, Jackie urged that much could be done today.

"The idea of help given without regard to race, color, or creed, is already a fact in the organizations taking part in your United Community Campaigns," he said

by RICHARD JOHNS

Some Literary Trends

A penetration into the innermost truth of existence is the only means of distinguishing the true from the false, and the achievement of greatness in literature is dependent on this to a very large measure. Creativity discloses a way of looking at the world and it is therefore a way of knowing and also a way of determining a philosophy.

Today, in a world where there is not only a great uncertainty of freedom but also a systematic curtailment of man's liberty in large sections of the world, there is a growing tendency towards conformism in literature. Thus definiteness and the intrinsic value of things producing effects are sacrificed by so-called defenders of freedom. This conformity is not without its effects and the significance of its inevitable destructiveness is manifest in the decadence of the literature as a whole where it occurs. This type of sickness, for sickness certainly it is, is clearly seen in the German writers ten or more years after World War I, among whom are Kastner and Doblin. The demand for strict obedience to the powerfully held belief led both artists and writers to a destructiveness in their works which was as extreme as virulent.

The influence of science today on art, more specifically on literature is interesting not only in the development of new forms in the latter but also in the growing tendency for the scientific spirit to become an accepted ideal. The casualness of manner in spite of the intensity of feeling is at once alarming and somewhat disturbing to those who want to see literature invested in the maximum of fuss. The complete elegance of poetry, for example, is no less admirable when written in the casual though inspired manner of Louis MacNiece or T. S. Eliot, both of the modern school, than that of the Classical or Romantic periods in poetry.

Literary movements which go hand in hand with changes in societies where these recur are responsible for attempting to invent a kind of concrete language for universal use. There are some, however, who oppose this and are caught up in what is called Regionalism as evidenced in some of the Welsh poets, as Hugh MacDiarmid, for example; and in the United States, Carl Sandburg, where dialects or colloquialisms are revived. This tendency towards universality in literature on the one hand and regionalism on the other as observed in specific areas should be compatible and complementary.

It would be pleasant to end this article by making some predictions as to the future, if these trends so briefly outlined here could be fully developed; this would undoubtedly stimulate eagerness to investigate the merits of today's literature, but since any prediction requires evaluation in terms of the present, this end could not be honestly achieved. Moreover, any evaluation of present-day literature as dynamic as it is would not be accepted either by the modern critic or writer.

Definitely, then, the tendencies chosen at random in literature today as mentioned in this article point to clear ends. The Pattern of creativity in literature is using more and more as its basis scientific thought. Consequently mat-

STAR TIME

This is the first of a series of regular columns about the world of music. Besides a feature story about a most prominent personality in the world of music, STAR TIME will be chuck-full of inside news about everything that affects music—popular, jazz, symphonic, country and western—in addition to "filmland upbeat", radio and television chatter.

Perhaps no pair and very few individuals, are more prominent in the best-seller lists than Les Paul and Mary Ford. In just four short years Les and Mary have sold over six million records, four of their discs, alone, have sold one million copies apiece. And just six years ago the duo was having a hard time making ends meet, before going out to the west coast, and being snagged by Capitol Records. Les and Mary's first big hit was How High The Moon, and since then they have turned out one hit after another. Les is rated as one of the best guitar players in the country, and Mary also rates high among the Gibson guitar pluckers. Of course, the double-track vocals of Mary are a potent help.

At present, their best sellers is "Vaya Con Dios," a simple religious-type tune which passed the million disc sales mark this summer and is still going strong.

AD LIBS: Look for a flock of standards, mainly jazz sides that were recorded in the '30's, to be reissued during the fall and winter by the major record companies. Columbia, R. C. A., and Mercury have huge programs in the works, mostly collectors' items which will appear on LP's and EP's. . . . Lionel Hampton's band is the latest to make the European concert tour, following in the wake of Stan Kenton, who scored a great success on a one-month tour that took him from Sweden to Ireland.

DOWN BEAT'S FIVE STARS: the records which will hit the best-selling lists in the very near future.

POPULAR: Nat Cole—Two In Love (Capitol LP H 420) Best package of Nat's reminders of some of the fine old standards. Vic Damone—Ebb Tide (Mercury 70216). Vocal edition of the sax instrumental finds Damone back in his true form with a warm and beautifully-phrased treatment.

ter-of-factness is evident in modern English poetry. The conventional embellishments are replaced in the poetry of Auden for instance with a definite, complex, emotional tone. This emotional tone has a vitality which is quite easily rejected by people who see it in the conventional mode of thought as being banal and devoid of feeling.

Conformism in concept and form, is one of the harmful tendencies which grow in a society which is trying either to maintain the status quo in the name of freedom, or to champion human liberty in a superficial or reckless way. The result of this conformism is a loss of force and final destruction of the human soul.

Finally the movements of regionalism and internationalism in literature are interesting from the point of view of their compatibility. The latter points the way (to which we may all be rationally optimistic) towards a world language.

CAMPUS SYMPOSIUM

Do you think that moving the college dance to the Campus will reduce the amount of "Alcohol" consumed by Morehouse students? Benjamin F. Green, Senior—Definitely not in view of the fact that "Alcohol" can be drunk before attending the dance, not to speak of the drinking that can go on outside of the gym.

stopped—unless you dismiss the student population.

John Jamerson, Junior — It is my opinion that the consumption of alcoholic beverages by students will not be curtailed, if we were to have all our dances on the campus, and the amount will decrease only a very little.

Take the Maroon and White dance for example. Past experience has shown me that most of the students take this gay affair as something extra special, and extend their fun beyond the time and place of the dance. So, one can see there will only be a slight difference by bringing the dances to the campus.

Aldus S. Mitchell, Senior—No. It will cause more "Alcohol" to be consumed on the campus. A recent survey by Life magazine showed that the majority of College students drink, more men than women. Morehouse is a men's college. Drinking should be expected.

MOORE William A. Jackson, Senior—Definitely. There should be a great decrease in the amount of "Alcohol" consumed by Morehouse men. However, moving the dance onto the campus wouldn't affect me very much in this respect.

Donald Moore, Senior—No! If a man drinks, he is going to no matter where you put him. Tampering with the inevitable is useless and drinking on college campuses is a thing that cannot be

SPORTS SLANTS

by PAT McCLAIN

We don't know what it is or what is causing the change, but there seems to be a revival of the traditional Morehouse spirit among the sports' enthusiasts here at Morehouse.

This rejuvenating spirit has been seen on the athletic field where thirty-five to forty Maroon gridsters whisked through brisk practice sessions long before the return of the student body. There was keen competition for backfield and line positions which resulted in a hard-hitting unit. Every athlete blocked and tackled with the intent of moving his buddy, regardless.

This resurgence of spirit is emphasized in the action of the Morehouse student body. Throughout the campus the classroom quarterbacks and coaches are predicting a winning season for the Tigers. The campus echos with "This is our year" and "Watch out Clark".

Further emphasizing this spirit, the students have not only suggested that the freshmen have the traditional "crab" cap but have decided to wear the Maroon and White caps, also.

This vitality was further expressed in the great send-off the band and student body gave the Maroon gridsters before they departed for Normal, Alabama, for the opening game with Alabama A. & M. Prior to the team's departure the band played several marches and concluded with the Morehouse hymn.

The Morehouse spirit is sweeping the campus and with such enthusiasm the bell will ring out football victories.

The cause of this rejuvenation of school spirit is built on the shoulders of last year's returning lettermen led by Captain Jackie Sheftall, hard-charging back, and other Morehouse Stellers who are returning to school, such as Joe McCoy, quarterback, and John Lester, fullback. Coach Joe Echols in his fourth season at the helm of the Maroon Tiger football machine is gunning for that all important year.

There is also the determination of the Tigers to beat such old rivals as Tuskegee, Clark, Alabama State, and Fisk. The Tigers are anxious to avenge last year's lickings administered by Knoxville, Tuskegee, and Fisk.

Futhermore, the Tigers will be out to tame the newcomer, J. C. Smith.

With the return of one-platoon football, the 60-minute man and the rejuvenation of the old Morehouse spirit the once mighty Tiger is again hanging out the danger signal.

TIGERS BOAST .500 AVERAGE

Taking advantage of almost every possible opportunity, the Maroon Tigers football squad scored a slashing victory, 26-0, over the Dillard University Blue Devils in New Orleans October 10, 1953.

The fireworks all started when Morehouse's halfback, Daniel Stevens, intercepted a pass on his own 17-yard stripe and streaked 83 yards for the first touchdown. The try for extra point was no good. Later on, McCoy passed 8 yards to Clendenon, the left end, who was standing and waiting in the end zone. The try for extra point was made good by McCoy.

The third score came on a pass from Wade to Clendenon. Wade, the stellar Morehouse quarterback, plunged over from the one-inch line for the final touchdown.

USO EXPANDS ITS PROGRAM OF RELIGIOUS ACTIVITIES

NEW YORK—The USO has adopted a new religious program which seeks to provide for members of the armed forces, in the civilian communities adjacent to their military stations, the same religious ministrations as would be available to them in their home communities.

Authors of the program, which extends USO's activities in the religious sphere and which will soon be placed in effect in the 294 USO clubs and centers in this country and overseas, are three clergymen representing the major religious faiths. They are Monsignor Paul F. Tanner, Dr. John H. Gardner, and Rabbi Aryeh Lev.

In meeting its responsibility for fostering the spiritual development of the nation's servicemen and women, USO plans to undertake active efforts to interest local clergy in the day-to-day operations of its clubs. Wherever possible, members of the club's religious advisory committee will be available for consultations, personal conferences with individuals or religious ministrations, ening the faith of members of

An important role in strengthening the armed forces is assigned to religious literature and religious articles, and it is suggested that kits of USO stationery, religious literature and religious articles should be prepared by local USO committees and presented to members of the armed forces who are leaving the area and to those confined to hospitals.

In addition to providing information concerning local religious services and encouraging members of the military to attend, the USO will seek to provide transportation to nearby congregations, and will arrange for baby sitting service for married couples who otherwise would find it impossible to attend services.

An essential element in USO's current religious program is home hospitality, through which servicemen are invited to visit at the homes of civilians living in communities near their military stations. Also, the desirability of hospitality extended on a group basis by a synagogue or church in connection with special religious services is also emphasized.

USO services are financed by United Defense Fund which seeks support through the Community Chest and other united community campaigns.

DEBATING SOCIETY PLANS ACTIVITIES

The Morehouse College Debating Society, otherwise known as the Chi Delta Sigma, met October 6, with Mr. Wilbert Washington in the chair and Mr. Francis Barber serving as Secretary. Professor A. Russell Brooks of the English Department was present as faculty adviser.

After a general discussion of projected plans for the year's activities, which may include an international debate with India (that is, students from India), specific plans were made for a panel discussion by the Society on Western Germany and the problem of re-armament, this panel to be given in Chapel during the last week in October. Most of the intercollegiate debates during the year will be concerning the subject of free trade. Any Morehouse College student has the privilege of attending meetings of the Society and of competing for a place on the Debating Squad.

Mr. Washington says, "even if you don't compete, come out and beat up your gums—or, in other words, chew the cud with us."

SPORTS HERE AND THERE

by ALFRED WILLIE

If you are wondering what the contents of this article may be, then, just relax and focus your eyes and attention on some of the important sports happenings on the national and international scene.

As the time passes by and an end has finally crept upon the thrill-packed baseball season, sports fans everywhere have started turning much attention to the gridiron, the hockey court, and a little later, even the hardwood court for basketball. However, before beginning to talk about the game called football and others, it may well be worth the time to salute and express appreciation to the "Bums" from Brooklyn, and the "Bronx Bombers", better known as the New York Yankees, for winning the pennants in their respective leagues. Also, these two teams can be thanked very much by sport fans all over for presenting a fine, spectacular and thrilling World Series performance.

Working back to the subject of football, it has been found that possibly a very important question lingers on the minds of most inter-collegiate football fans in the nation today. That question is probably this: Will the One-Platoon System cause any harmful effects on football by making the game slower and less interesting? Now, probably a complete answer can't be given to this particular question until the season ends or progresses further than the present stages; but in order to aid in resting a few doubtful minds for a short time anyway, just take a glance at opinions of some top-rated football coaches. Coach Frank Leahy of Notre Dame, a gentleman who has coached performers like the superb Johnnie Lujack, versatile Jim Martin, the super Leon Hart, Six-Yard Sitko, Bob Williams, and many other greats in football, believes that the extraction of the Two-Platoon system is wrong because it shuts off the benefits of the game such as sacrifice, sportsmanship, lessons in courage, and team play which should be made available to everyone possible.

Now a different and contrasting opinion of the previously mentioned coach. Coach Bud Wilkerson of the University of Oklahoma, admits that better technical efficiency can be gained from the Two-Platoon system—that is the boys with all 'round ability—from playing all the time. "They have to sit it out either on defense or offense", says Wilkinson. Many other views could be expressed here on the subject both pro and con but as it was stated earlier a better conclusion of the question can be created as the season nears its end.

It might take the sports fan all of the football season to form a tentative conclusion about the new rule; but it didn't quite take that long for Rocky Marciano to retain his title as heavyweight champion of the world. His series of rushing left jabs and torrid right hooks kayoed the college kid La Starza in the tenth round of a scheduled fifteen-round fight on September 24 at the Polo Grounds. Victorious also but finding it very tough, Kid Gavilan defeated Carmen Basilo at Syracuse, N. Y. in their Sept. 18th scramble. The bolo-punching Gavilan from Cuba was introduced to the floor of the canvas for the first time in many years after experiencing a hard blow from Basilio. Although later the Cuban went on to win the fight by a very close decision.

The Dallas Eagles representing the Texas league emerged victorious over the Nashville Vols of the Southern Association in the Dixie Series. The Eagles won by a margin of four games to two in a best four out of seven series.

It was quite disappointing when Mr. Alfred Vanderbuilt announced sometime back that his lightning-fast colt, Native Dancer, could not race against the highly touted Tom Fool of Greentree Stable in the fifty thousand dollar Sysonby Mile. Man, oh man, what a showdown that would have been! Tom Fool was successful in winning the stakes, while Native Dancer suffered an injury.

W. ROWAN SANDERS

Three years ago amidst the turmoil and chaos created by the outbreak of the Korean War, Wendel Rowan Sanders came to Morehouse College under the pungent influence of Rev. Samuel Williams of the Philosophy Department. Rowan, a diminutive, inconspicuous freshman from Vicksburg, Mississippi, was astonished by the sights of a big city but not by the onerous class assignments.

At the end of Rowan's freshman year he had compiled a very impressive scholastic average of four points, and he was an active member of the Glee club.

Over the last three years Rowan has amassed a handsome academic record: sporting 29 A's and 5 B's, aside from working as

HORNETS INVADE TIGER DEN TONIGHT

Tigers Seek Second Win

Playing before the home crowd for the first time this season, the Maroon Tigers are hoping to stage a vicious attempt to gain victory over the Hornets of Alabama State in Herndon Stadium at 8:00 P. M. tonight, October 16, 1953.

The first two previous games have been played out of town, at Alabama A. & M. in Normal, Alabama, and in New Orleans, Louisiana with Dillard University.

The Tigers boast a somewhat strong and talented backfield while the line lacks the weight which it has possessed in earlier years. The backfield is packed with veterans, so here are some of them to keep your eyes on all during the game for the Tigers. Capt. Jackie Sheptall, Co-Capt. Harry (Jitterbug) Smith, (Shifty) Ted Sparks, (Powerhouse) Whiter Booker, (Bulldozer) Daniel Stevens, Lendon (Slingshot Artist) Wade, Willie (Flash) Davis, and (Tricky) Joe McCoy, the magician who has returned from the U. S. Army. Also, veterans on the line are "Big Jim" Arterberry, "Bulldog" Sam Wilson, "Jolting" Granville Anderson, "Pass-snagging" Don Clendenon, "Bone Crusher" Chic Holmes, "The mighty moose" Oyama Hampton, and big super Mike Clark. These are only some of the veterans on the squad, but it has been said that there are many promising young rookies that may thrill the crowd.

The Alabama State Hornets are expected to have an all-round balance of power, both in the backfield and on the line. So, judging from this, the game tonight will be terrific indeed! Morehouse students will get its first look at their team under the new One-Platoon system.

STUDENTS ADVISED TO SUBMIT SSCQT APPLICATION NOW

Applications for the November 19, 1953, and the April 22, 1954, administrations of the College Qualification Test are now available at Selective Service System local boards throughout the country.

Eligible students who intend to take this test on either date should apply at once to the nearest Selective Service local board for an application and a bulletin of information.

Following instructions in the bulletin, the student should fill out his application and mail it immediately in the envelope provided to SELECTIVE SERVICE EXAMINATION SECTION, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 586, Princeton, New Jersey. Applications for the November 19 test must be postmarked no later than midnight, November 2, 1953.

According to Educational Testing Service, which prepares and administers the College Qualification Test for Selective Service System, it will be greatly to the student's advantage to file his application at once, regardless of the testing date he selects. Test results will be reported to the student's Selective Service local board of jurisdiction for use in considering his deferment as a student.

LAW SCHOOL TEST IS ANNOUNCED

The Law School Admission Test required of applicants for admission to a number of leading American law schools, will be given on the mornings of November 14, 1953, February 20, April

Intercollegiate Group Holds First Meet

The Intercollegiate Council held its first meeting of the school year, 1953-1954 in the lounge of the Atlanta University Library on Sunday, October 11, 1953. This is a student organization of the Negro and White Colleges in Atlanta-set up to prove that people of all races and nationalities can live and work harmoniously together.

The officers for this year are: President: Robert Cheesboro, Sophomore, Morehouse College. Vice-President: Powell Hall, Senior, School of Theology at Emory University. Secretary: Jo Ann Gaylor, Sophomore, Emory University. Treasurer: Betty Tribble, Senior, Spelman College.

This Council began eleven years ago, but because of the existing laws in the state of Georgia, the Council was not able to function

10, and August 7, 1954. During 1952-53 some 7,400 applicants took this test, and their scores were sent to over 100 law schools.

Bulletins and applications for the test should be obtained four to six weeks in advance of the desired testing date from Law School Admission Test, Educational Testing Service, P. O. Box 592, Princeton, N. J. Completed applications must be received at least ten days before the desired testing arrangements for each candidate.

A candidate must make separate application for admission to each law school of his choice and should inquire of each whether it wishes him to take the test.

STUDENTS!
Make $25⁰⁰
 189 AWARDS LAST YEAR!

Write a Lucky Strike jingle!

No box tops! NO ENTRY BLANKS! It's easy!

Just write a 4-line jingle based on the fact that

LUCKIES ARE MADE BETTER TO TASTE BETTER!*

HERE ARE THE INSTRUCTIONS

1. Write your Lucky Strike jingle on a plain piece of paper or post card and send it to Happy-Go-Lucky, P. O. Box 67, New York 46, N. Y. Be sure that your name, address, college and class are included—and that they are legible.
2. Base your jingle on any qualities of Luckies. "Luckies are made better to taste better," is only one. (See "Tips to money-makers.")
3. Every student of any college, university or post-graduate school may submit jingles.
4. You may submit as many jingles as you like. Remember, you are eligible to win more than one $25 award.

Here's your chance to make yourself $25. Just write a 4-line Lucky Strike jingle, based on the fact that Luckies are made better to taste better.*

Then, if we select your jingle, we'll pay you for the right to use it, together with your name, in Lucky Strike advertising... probably in this paper.

Read the sample jingles on this page. Then get the gang together, break out the rhyming dictionary, and start writing. It's fun! And we're buying jingles by the bushell!

Hint—if you can sing your jingle, it's a good one!

Hint—the more jingles you write, the more money you have a chance of making.

Hint—be sure to read all the instructions!

*TIPS TO MONEY-MAKERS

To write a winning Lucky Strike jingle, you're not limited to "Luckies are made better to taste better." Use any other sales points on Lucky Strike such as the following:

- L.S./M.F.T.
- Lucky Strike Means Fine Tobacco
- Luckies' cigarette-tearing demonstration
- Luckies taste cleaner, fresher, smoother
- Be Happy—Go Lucky
- So round, so firm, so fully packed
- So free and easy on the draw
- Buy Luckies by the carton
- Luckies give you deep-down smoking enjoyment

I've heard the same in every class—
 In history, psych, and ec—
 For cleaner, fresher, smoother smokes,
 It's Lucky Strike, by heck!

I like a better-tasting smoke
 And mildness counts with me.
 So when I buy I keep in mind
 That L.S./M.F.T.!

abilities and ambitions of her beloved band. We salute you members and director of the Maroon and White Band of Morehouse College, and wish you a grand year of dazzling success.

Chapel Highlights

From the 28th of September 'til now, the Morehouse chapel programs have been well planned and some have been very interesting. The programs in the weeks to follow promise the same with improvements for the half-hour assembly.

Already we have heard President Mays, Dean Brazeal, Dr. E.

B. Williams of the Economics Department, Rev. L. M. Tobin of the School of Religion and pastor of Providence Baptist Church, Professor Kemper Harreld, Rev. Sandy Ray who is a distinguished Morehouse graduate and minister of Cornerstone Baptist Church in Brooklyn, New York; William Gordon, who is managing editor of the Atlanta Daily World and a 1952-53 Nieman Fellow at Harvard, Desmond Hobart Houghton who is Professor of Economics at Rhodes University in Grahamstown, South Africa and Atlanta University's President, Dr. Rufus E. Clement.

In the coming assemblies, we may expect to join Atlanta University in its observance of Charter Day on October 16, and a special United Nations' day program under the direction of Dr. Brisbane of the Department of Political Science.

On October 27, Rev. S. A. Owen, a distinguished Morehouse graduate who is vice-president of the National Baptist Convention and minister of the Metropolitan Baptist Church in Memphis, Tennessee will speak. There will be a student panel under the direction of Professor A. R. Brooks on the 29th and the band will perform the following day.

November 3-5 is Omega Psi Phi Achievement Week Observance and on November 6th, the band will appear, along with everything else that goes with the Maroon and White Festivities. The appearance of Miss Maroon and White on this day is the Height of the season's chapel schedule.

Now that the sports scene has been spoken of all over the nation, let's not forget the big game coming up this week-end featuring the Morehouse College Maroon Tiger against the Hornets from Alabama State. Also, there are many other big games coming up this week-end that will be covered in the next issue, plus some dope on wrestling from over the country.

When you smoke Chesterfield it's so satisfying to know that you are getting the one cigarette that's low in nicotine, highest in quality.

A fact proved by chemical analyses of the country's six leading cigarette brands.

And it's so satisfying to know that a doctor reports no adverse effects to the nose, throat and sinuses from smoking Chesterfield.

The doctor's report is part of a program supervised by a responsible independent research laboratory and is based on thorough bi-monthly examinations of a group of Chesterfield smokers over a period of a year and a half.

Chesterfield is best for me — my steady smoke for 5 years.
