FOREWORD

With the help of all, we of the Reflections staff have sought to produce a yearbook rich in the traditions of Spelman College and, at the same time, one that may serve as a prologue to the future as Spelman moves ahead. We have moulded our lives and minds to fit the Spelman pattern laid down for us by our predecessors. We hope we have left patterns that will help the coming Spelman generations to meet the dynamic challenge of tomorrow.

DEDICATION

We of the class of 1959 are proud to dedicate this yearbook to Mrs. Grace Jason Perry. As our class sponsor during our first two years at Spelman, and in her role as Registrar of the College since then, Mrs. Perry has led us successfully through the many trials and tribulations of college life.

In this, our last group effort, we wish to express our continuing sense of obligation to Mrs. Perry.

ADMINISTRATION AND STAFF

DR. ALBERT E. MANLEY, *The President

Dr. Manley's job as leader of our community and his devotion to the duties this job entails do not end when he leaves the office. All of the students are used to Dr. Manley's attendance at most programs throughout the school year, and we are grateful and pleased that our president is interested in all the facets of our life at Spelman.

Mrs. Dorothy Manley is an important part of the Spelman way of life even though she is a graduate of Fisk University. As official hostess to the college and through her own interests she has made her charming personality an integral part of the campus scene.

The Secretaries in the President's Office

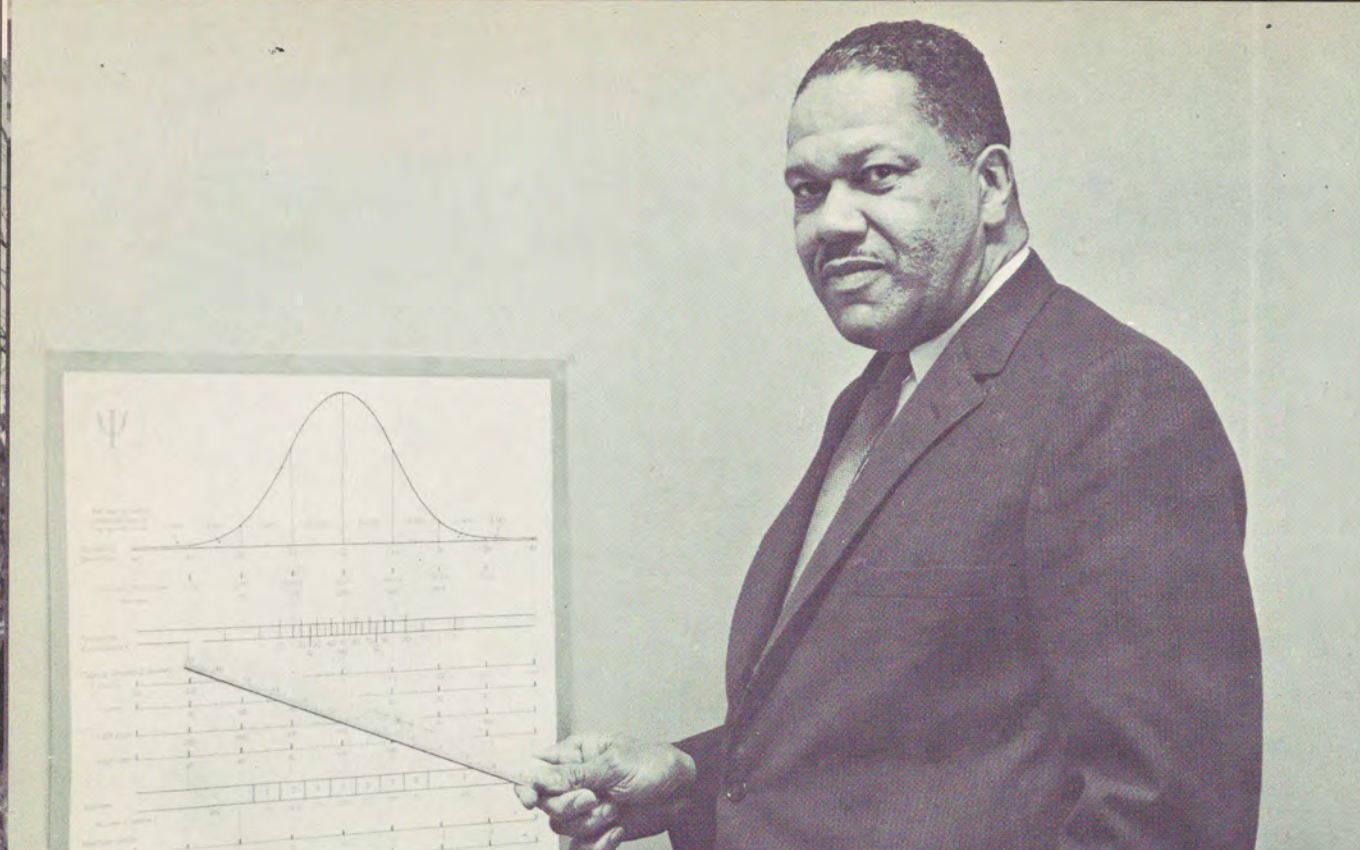

These are the secretaries in the President's office: Mrs. Jeanne H. Zanders and Mrs. Harriette B. Fisher.

The Dean of Instruction

As Dean of Instruction, Dr. Oran W. Eagleson is in charge of arranging course schedules for all the various majors and minors. Consequently his office is always filled with students, and most of us feel — thanks to his sympathetic handling of our many academic problems — that he is our friend.

The Dean of Women

This is Mrs. Irene Asbury's first year as Dean of Women. As we have gotten to know her and her program better, our admiration and affection have increased.

Mrs. Asbury is particularly interested in improving the quality and efficiency of student government through the expansion of duties in the SSGA to insure maximum participation from the student body. To this end she has begun a Leadership Training Program which features retreats several times a year.

The Registrar's Office

Mrs. Grace J. Perry and her office, complete with records and transcripts, have always been important to us, but in our senior year they have both taken on an added meaning. Formal senior conferences with Mrs. Perry and many informal visits have helped allay our fears.

Mrs. Perry is ably aided by the Assistant Registrar, Mrs. Amanda K. Bailey, and her secretary, Mrs. Dessa Johnson.

The Secretary to the Dean of Instruction

Mrs. Marjorie C. Spring is the secretary to Dean Eagleson and general factotum for the entire faculty. She is a familiar sight as she goes around the campus with a seemingly never-ending supply of messages and notices.

The Secretary to the Dean of Women

Mrs. Isabel G. Webster is the efficient secretary to the Dean of Women. Mrs. Webster is also a lawyer and has been admitted to practice before the Georgia bar.

The Treasurer's Office

Mr. John Coe is the Assistant Treasurer of Spelman College. Working with him in his office are Mrs. Rae Harm and Mrs. Helen Brooks.

The Alumnae Office

Mrs. Ernestine B. Brazeal, herself an alumna of Spelman, is the Alumnae Secretary. Mrs. Brazeal is also in charge of the publication of the Messenger.

Here we see Mrs. Aline Howard surrounded by the girls of her dormitory, Morehouse South.

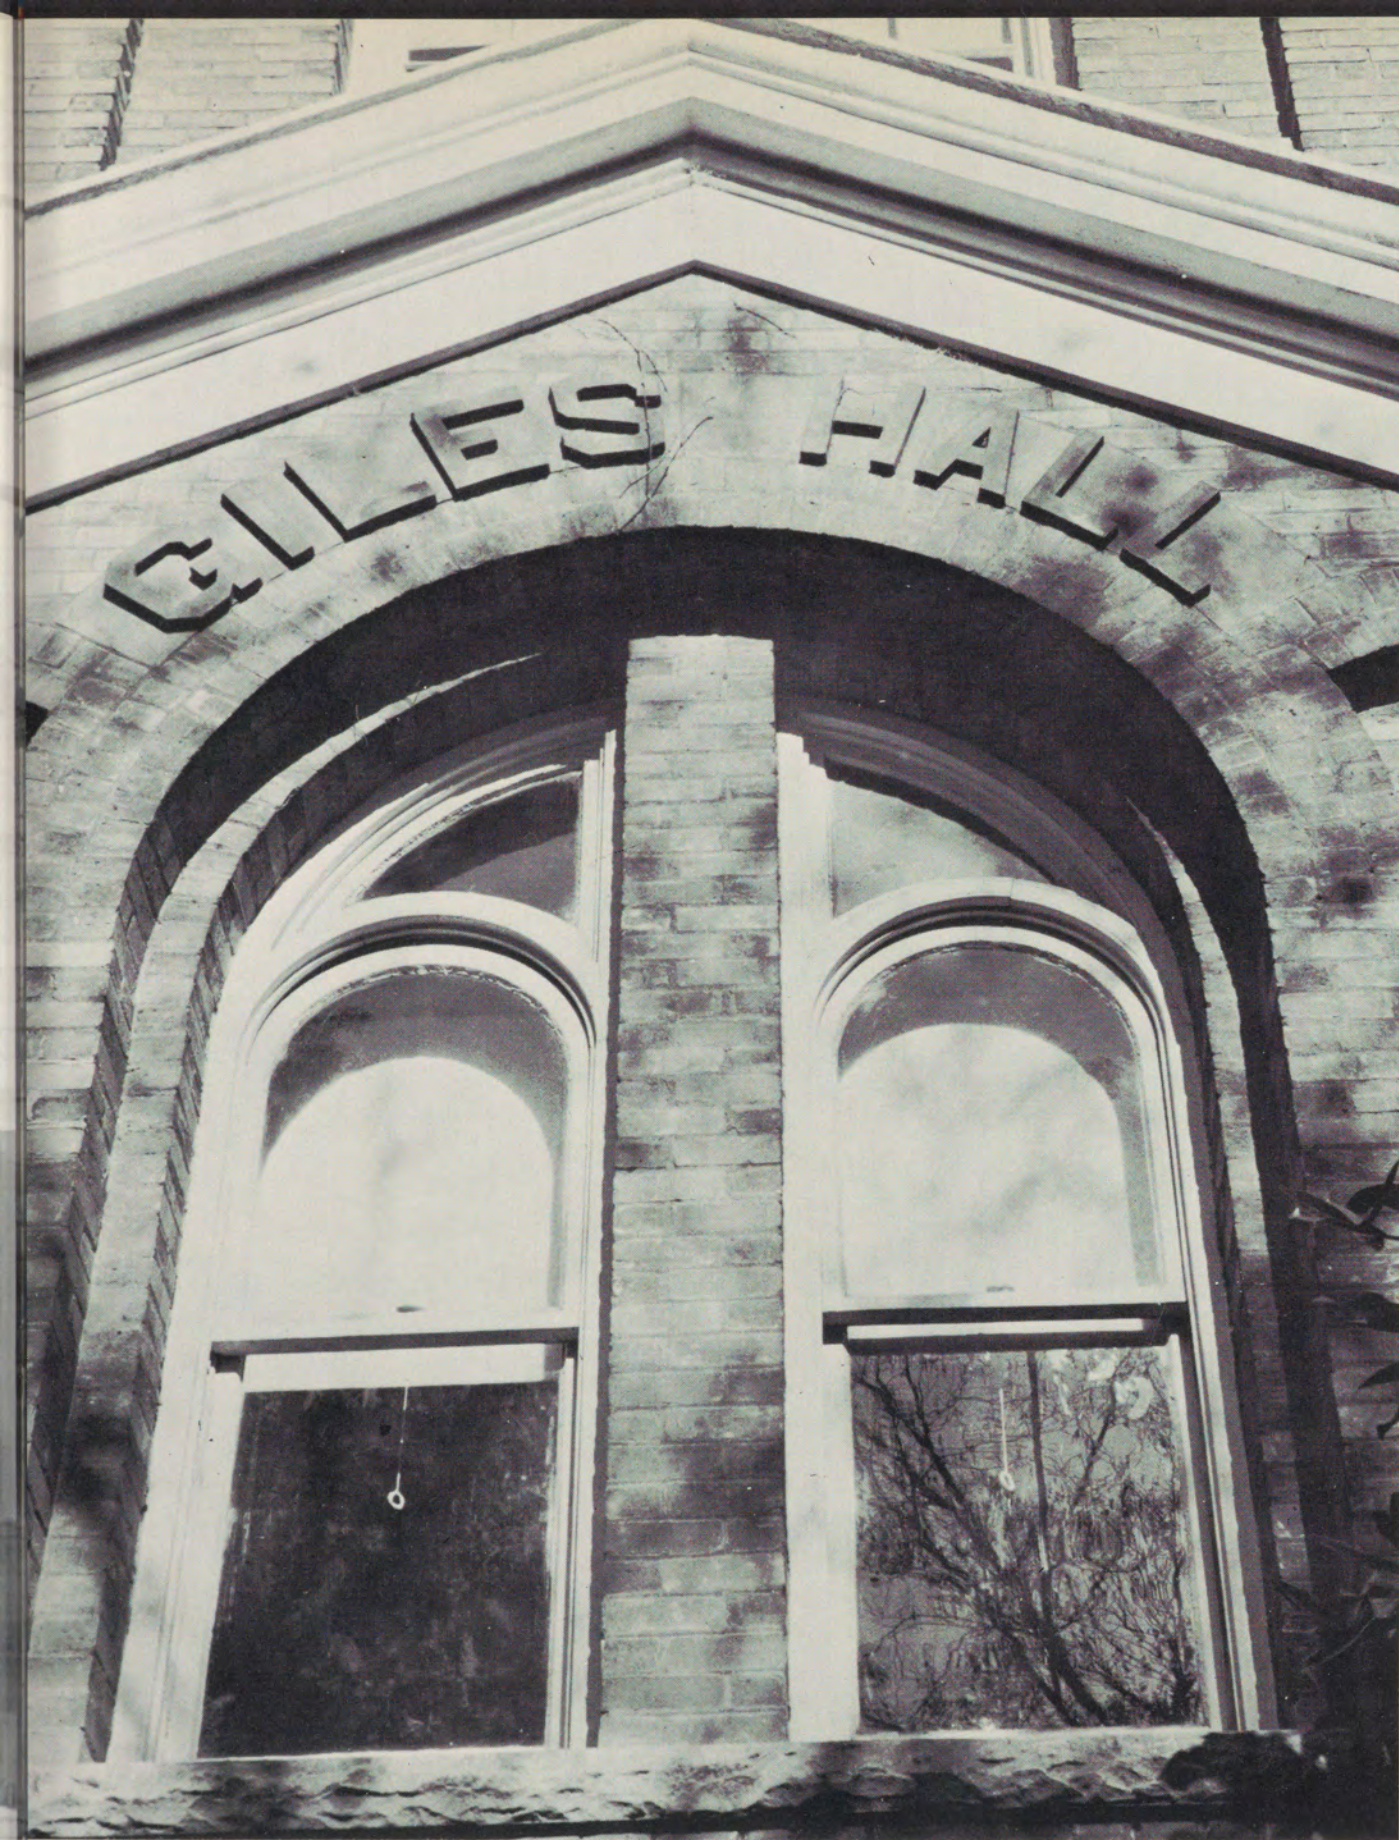

The Snack Shop is one of the most popular places on campus. Students are found there talking on the telephone, eating, or just relaxing with their dates. Most of us feel that the day would not be complete without a visit to the Snack Shop. Mrs. Romell Patterson Adair is the manager of the Snack Shop and is assisted by students.

Student Government Operations

Student Government In Action

Looks like fun, doesn't it? These girls are members of the student government organization who in January went on a Retreat at Redin, Georgia. They met informally to discuss the progress of student government during the year of 1958 and to plan activities for the coming year.

No, they didn't ride on it, they rode in it.

A small workshop reviews the work of the first semester and discusses plans for the second semester.

"Chow Time" as the "retreaters" get down to the real business of the day.

Carolyn and Herschelle seem well prepared for the week-end's work as they carry their equipment to the car.

Arminta and Irene are also Retreat bound and anxiously awaiting their transportation.

Marian, Dodie, and Frances are relaxing in the "Great Outdoors" on a lovely day in January.

And so Life at Spelman continues with its endless variety of attractions calling to us. And when it is all over, we look back and reflect on . . .

. . . the Pep Rallies held on our campus — and our fatigue . . .

the long hours of study . . .

. . . the relaxing pull of the bowling ball

. . . the hours we spent with them . . .

. . . the Productions we sponsored . . .

. . . the chest X-rays everybody took . . .

. . . the people who gave us guidance and inspiration . . .

. . . and those who first impressed us . . .

. . . and the times we just smiled and looked pretty.

ACTIVITIES

Morehouse's Homecoming is always one of the most colorful events of the year. The bright floats and the queens and their attendants make the parade and half-time ceremonies at the game memorable. It is perhaps every girl's dream to be elected Miss Maroon and White. This year the dream came true for Myrna Smith, a member of the senior class. Margaret Rucker and June Hector, also seniors, were her attendants. Pictured above are the half-time ceremonies at the game during the singing of the Morehouse Hymn.

The Coronation of Miss Maroon and White.

The Parade

has begun! Myrna waves to her admirers,

Geneva and Evelyn smile as they pass down Chestnut Street, while Janie manages to look quite gay and charming despite her perilous perch.

Pat is every inch a queen, and Patricia is poised despite her freshman status.

Janice and Myrna are last but not the least of our pretty queens. And there they go down the street. Good-bye til next year.

SEVENTY-EIGHTH FOUNDERS DAY CELEBRATION

Spelman College was founded in 1881 by Miss Sophia B. Packard and Miss Harriet E. Giles. The school was opened in Atlanta on April 11, 1881, in the basement of Friendship Baptist Church. The name of the school at that time was the Atlanta Baptist Female Seminary. In April, 1884—the third anniversary of the founding of the school—Mr. John D. Rockefeller and some members of his family visited the school and upon hearing of the financial difficulties it was having, gave enough money to pay the debt on the property. At that time the name of the seminary was changed to Spelman Seminary, in honor of Mrs. Rockefeller's mother. In 1924, by amendment to the charter, the name was changed to Spelman College.

Spelman College is proud of its heritage as the first college for Negro women, and since its founding in 1881 has made valuable contributions to the field of higher education.

The Founders Day procession, headed by the senior class, winds across the campus. It is a Spelman tradition that on this occasion the seniors wear their caps and gowns for the first time and that the underclassmen who follow in the procession wear white dresses.

Dr. James Cleland, Dean of the Chapel, Duke University, the Founders Day speaker at the formal services held in Sisters Chapel, chats with seniors following the services.

ACTIVITIES IN CONNECTION WITH THE SEVENTY-EIGHTH FOUNDERS DAY CELEBRATION

Every year for thirty-two years the voices of Spelman, Morehouse and Atlanta University have united to give the annual Christmas Carol Concert. For the three evenings of the concert Sisters Chapel is the center of city-wide attention as many people from all over Atlanta come to this outstanding event.

SENIORS

Senior Class History

It was a cold, rainy, dreary day in September of 1955 when the class of '59 made its appearance at Spelman College. We were excited, anxious, and frightened. And the weather didn't help at all. It rained all day. However, with the help of the upperclassmen, we managed to get to our dormitories and get our room assignments. Most of us were tired that first night, but we stayed up almost all night, talking, meeting new girls as they came in, and wondering what in the world Spelman was going to be like.

The next morning we got up all excited and ready for our week of Freshman Orientation. The first day we had a number of tests to determine our skills and capacities. The rest of the week we went through more tests—mental and physical. We had songs to be learned, facts about Spelman to be learned, Do's and Don'ts, and many other things that would be of importance to us in our stay at Spelman.

The next week the upperclassmen arrived on campus. We were quite anxious to meet our Spelman sisters. Classes got under way that week also. Many of us went to the wrong buildings, wrong classrooms and even wrong teachers that week. However, with the help of the upperclassmen we were finally on our way.

We really felt a part of the Spelman family when we elected our class officers. Kay Bell was chosen as our President. Kay was from Evanston, Illinois, and she fascinated everyone with her Northern accent. As our Vice-President, we elected Roslyn Pope. "Ros," as everyone called her, was from Atlanta and was quite outstanding in the community. Our class sponsor was Mrs. Grace J. Perry, who at that time was the assistant dean of women. We were really getting down to business.

That year Margaret Rucker was chosen by Morehouse as "Miss Lampoda" and Carolyn Williams was a sweetheart of Alpha Phi Alpha fraternity. Christina Jaffer became a member of the AMS players and had a leading role in one of their plays.

May came and it was time for us to leave the walls of Spelman. After summer vacations we were back in September of 1956 settling down again to the regular routine of college life. We spent a week talking about what we did over the summer, meeting new friends, and indulging in the regular chit-chat. Finally we got down to the main business of college life. Roslyn Pope was elected as our class President, and our Vice-President was Carolyn Crawford.

That year we were determined to win the Founders Day Rally, and we did. Not only did we win the rally but we won the song and quiz competitions connected with the rally. We were very proud and happy. After Founders Day the time flew and it was May and time to say goodbye again. There were no engagement rings that year, but quite a few fraternity pins.

September of 1957 had a special meaning for us. We were bigtime juniors. We had finally reached the point of being upperclassmen. Most of us were living in Abby that year. This helped to cement the closeness that already existed among the members of our class.

For the second time we elected Roslyn Pope as our President. As the Vice-President we elected Dorothy Robinson. We also had a new class sponsor, Mrs. William G. Thomas. Most of us knew her as "Madame" because we had taken French from her.

This indeed was our year of glory at Spelman. Most of our classmates held outstanding positions during the year. Carolyn Crawford held the honored position of Vice-President of the SSA. Irene Stokes was the Superintendent of the Sunday School; Helen Kerr became acting President of the Y.W.C.A.; Geneva Evans was editor of the Spotlight.

We were also proud of the classmates who were chosen as queens of the Morehouse men during the year. Margaret Rucker was "Miss Omega Psi Phi," Jamie Johnson was "Miss Kappa Alpha Psi," June Hector was "Miss Phi Beta Sigma," Helen Kerr, attendant to "Miss Alpha Phi Alpha," and Teena Scott was selected as an attendant to "Miss Phi Beta Sigma."

Not only was our beauty represented during the year but our "Brains" were also. We were indeed proud of the classmates who made "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities": Carolyn Crawford, Marilyn Francis, Lucille Fultz, Frances Glover, Helen Kerr, Roslyn Pope, and Roslyn Washington. Roslyn Pope was also selected as one of the students to study abroad during the next year.

One of the big events that crowned our year of hard work and success was our Junior-Senior Prom. A lot of hard work was put into the prom. However, we finally made it a success with the excellent direction of the chairman, Sylvia Howard. We used as our theme "Out of This World." I am sure that as we enjoyed the prom we could truly say our junior year had really been "out of this world."

Our senior year has dawned and we know that before long we will be leaving Spelman. We do not know all the future holds, but we do know what the first semester has been like.

Our President is Jacquelyn Johnson and our Vice-President is Ara Ann Yates. Miss Lilla Joyce Finch is class sponsor. Carolyn Crawford is President of the student body and Lucille Fultz is the Secretary of the student body. Jeanelle Stovall, who had studied abroad during 1957-58, returned and joined our class, while Roslyn wrote letters frequently to let us know how she was getting along.

At the end of the first semester we paused to number our achievements. We learned that Myrna Smith reigned over the Morehouse College Homecoming activities and Margaret Rucker and June Hector were her attendants. Eva Thomas was "Miss Phi Beta Sigma," Janie Owens Peters was "Miss

M Club," with Ola Kinsey as one of her attendants, Geneva Evans was attendant to "Miss Kappa Alpha Psi" and Janice Bottoms was attendant to "Miss Alpha Phi Alpha."

We found that our class had some unusual talent when Marnesba Hill, Sylvia Howard, Huellen Morgan and Jeanelle Stovall formed a folk singing quartet called "the Quadlibets." Jane Bond, Marilyn Francis, and Roslyn Washington, along with others, seemed destined for academic honors and awards as the fateful day of June 1, 1959, Commencement, drew near.

"This is the day, let us rejoice." We have reached that wonderful day when we have been given the title of "seniors." No longer shall we have to wonder, as we did that day when we first entered Spelman, what will it be like, for now we know, because our years have been so great that we can never forget. Her signs will be on us wherever we go and whatever we do. These four years have been a challenge for us—a challenge to acquire knowledge, to seek truth and the "best that has been thought and said in the world." As we move forward to new and greater horizons, we leave our impressions behind with the hope that those who follow will be inspired by us. We shall continue in our search for knowledge and truth with Spelman always in our hearts. For Spelman has been to us the school of understanding, the school of sisterly love, the school for the building of fine women.

The Class of '59 bids farewell.

Moments In The Life Of A Senior

We'll have these moments to remember; for surely these snapshots reveal our happiest days, the many activities through the years, our special passions, and our days of routine work and play.

Leaving Vespers on a Sunday afternoon

Our calling hours following Vespers

Going to class on a chilly Monday morning

How we raced to the Snack Shop after Chapel to get our mail

Studying in our rooms

Playing in the snow

How we watched Sondra Rates grow

(She's a big girl now)

The lectures and receptions we attended

How we enjoyed ourselves at the Sweethearts Ball

That we had S.P.'s (secret passions) too

(In fact, we had several)

The Sundays we went to church

The Quartet of which we were so proud

Swinging on a Sunday afternoon

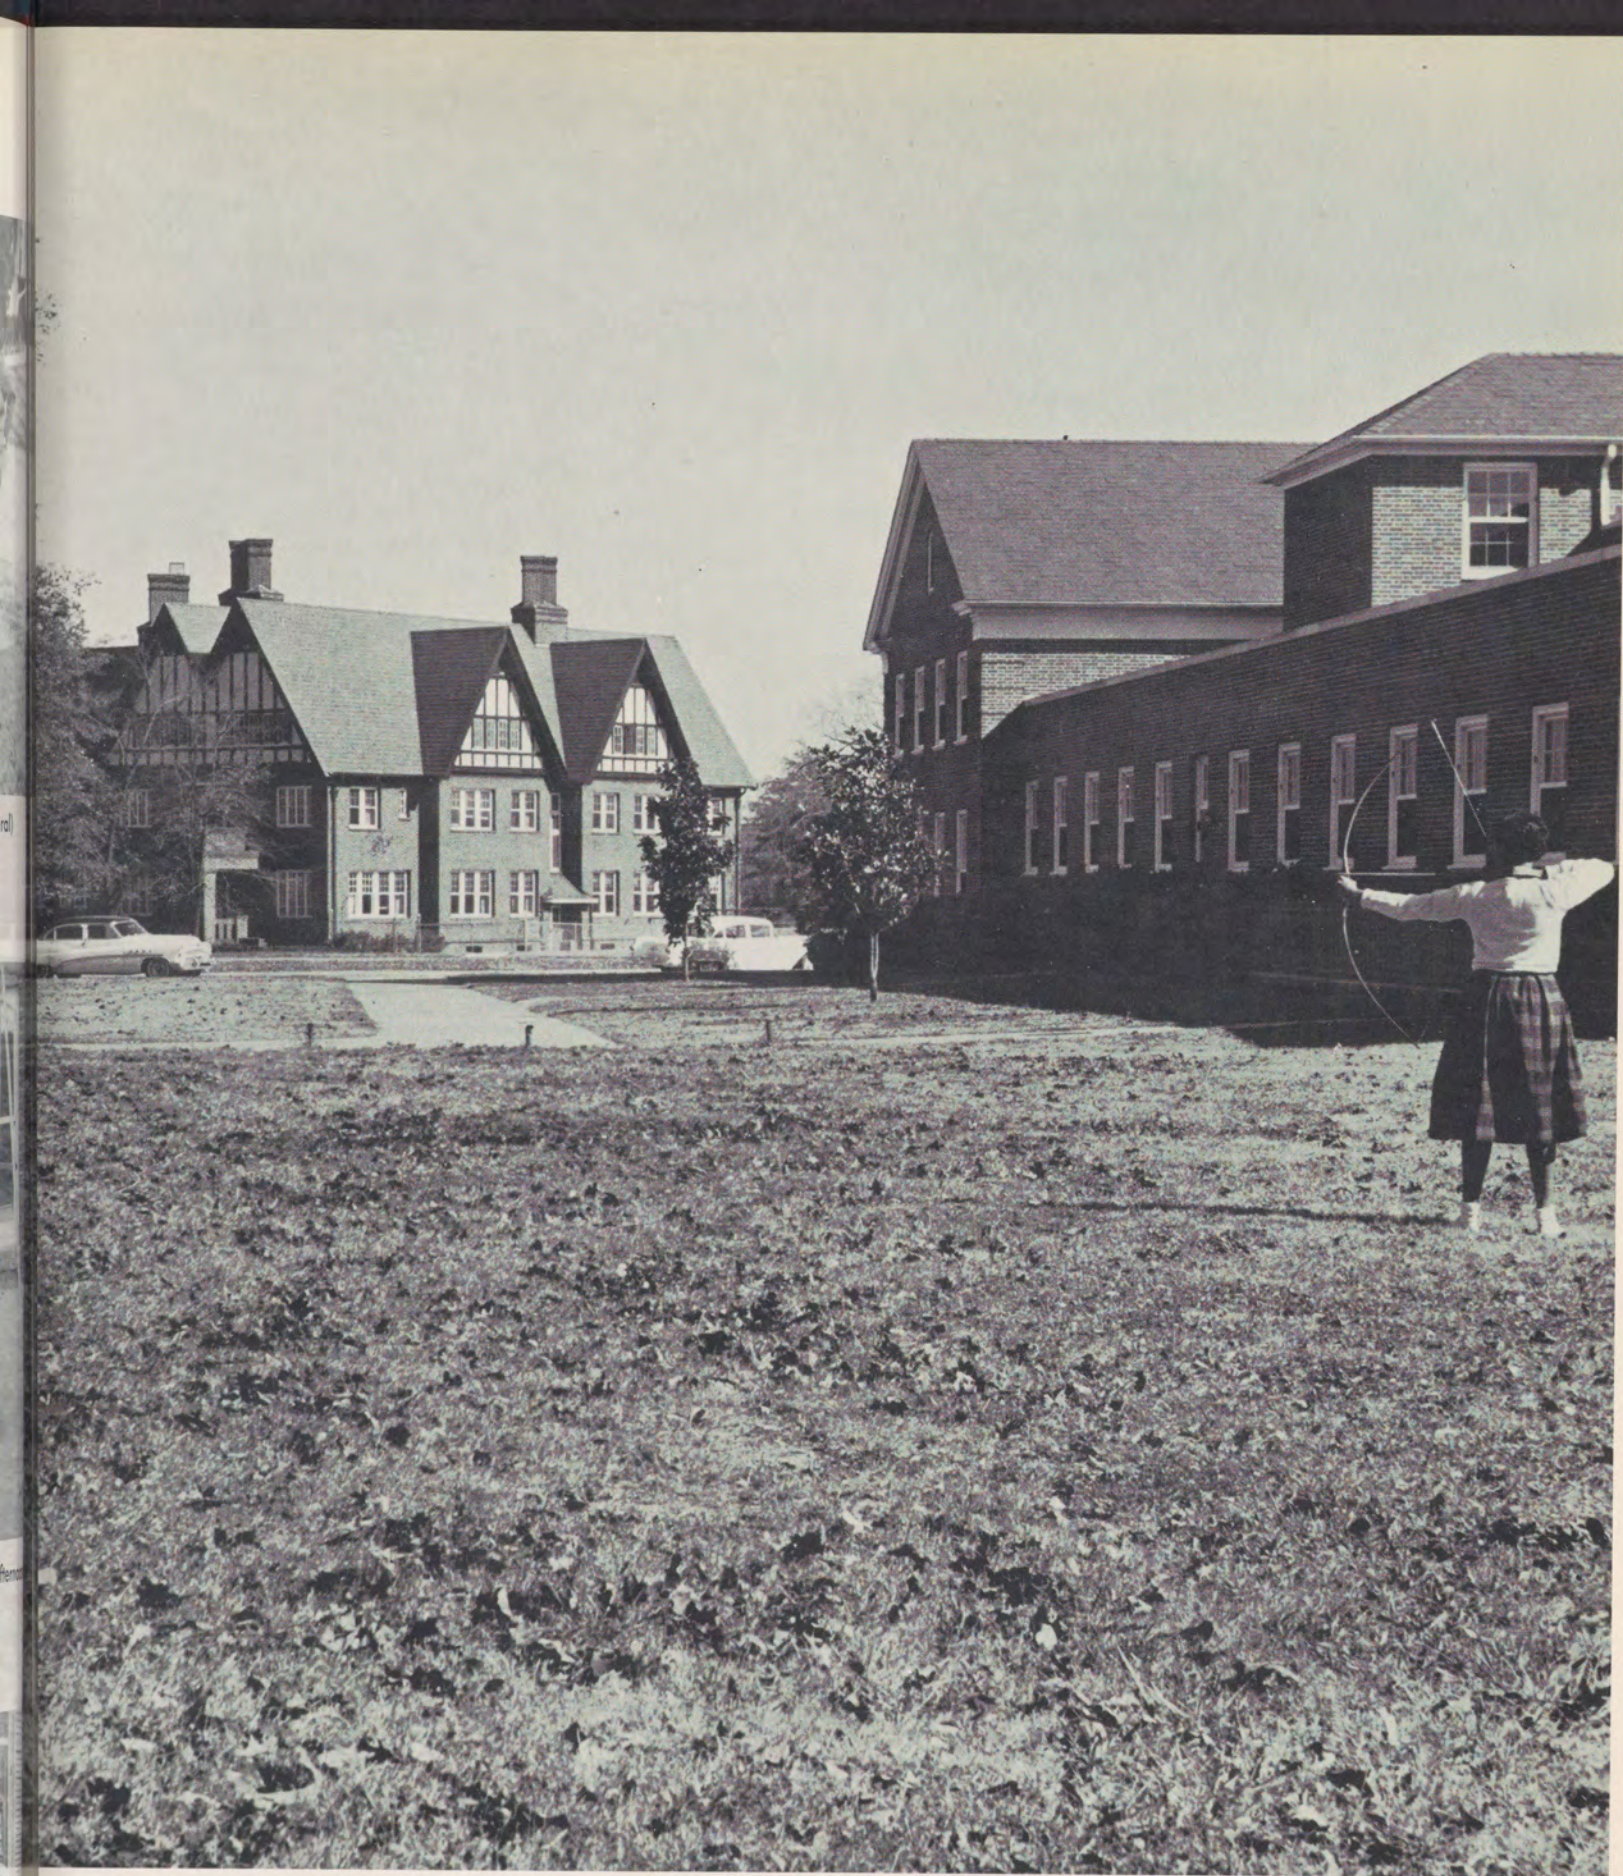

Inspection line at Vespers

Parties in the dorm

How sometimes we'd stand and think

REFLECTIONS

YEARBOOK OF SPELMAN COLLEGE

350 Leonard Street, S.W.

Atlanta 3, Georgia

May, 1959

Dear Readers:

In the Reflections of 1959, we have endeavored to capture the "Spirit of Spelman," to reflect in our yearbook the progress that Spelman has made in its movement forward. We have emphasized the Student Government Organizations, for we believe that they are perhaps the most significant aspect of our forward movement.

We are deeply indebted to the faculty, staff, and administration of the College for their assistance in publishing this yearbook. We give special thanks to Dr. Helen M. Sanders, the faculty advisor to the yearbook, to Mrs. Helen Morgan of Foote and Davies, and to our advertisers.

We hope that you have enjoyed this pictorial look at Spelman and that we have succeeded in our efforts to show you our Reflections of Spelman, 1959.

Geneva Evans, editor

Helen Kerr, associate editor

P.S. A last glimpse of our hard working staff striving to meet deadlines.
