DEDICATION

She is a dedicated person.

Sympathy and concern dominate her relationships with others. Her self-knowledge and inner peace encourage others to attempt the same. She is an example to be emulated, yet her appreciation of the individual spurs others to develop their own person.

Because she has laid hold on life, giving her all and still retaining her integrity, the Class of 1968 dedicates the "Reflections" to Miss Hulda Wilson.

Dr. Clement was a well-known and well-liked person in the Atlanta University Center, as well as in the state and nation. He was the first Negro to serve on the Atlanta Board of Education since Reconstruction days. Dr. Clement was elected to the Board in 1954.

Spelman College also felt the pains of death as they touched the hearts of the A.U. Center. We will always remember him as a man of great honor and dignity.

SPELMAN SALUTES

Dr. Benjamin Mays leaves Morehouse College as one of the greatest men to ever walk those hallowed halls. The retired Dr. Mays will always be remembered as a very dignified and admirable person by the women of Spelman College.

Morehouse College received its seventh president, Dr. Hugh Gloster, in July 1967. He was a member of the graduating class of Morehouse in 1936. Previously, he served as Dean of Faculty of Hampton Institute, Hampton, Virginia.

Spelman College is very happy to welcome him to our joint A.U. family.

INTRODUCTION

Spelman College is a place for discovery, learning and growth. It is one of the places where young women can come to prepare themselves for full adulthood. The process of growth is often slow, often painful. Yet few ever question the fact that this same process is meaningful.

This year, the REFLECTIONS staff has tried to capture some of the moments of growth. Years from now, we who are students will look back and smile nostalgically at ourselves, at our youth and at our experiences at Spelman. What we have tried to do is capture ourselves—to bring back memories of things perhaps not clear now, which will be clearer to us later; to preserve cherished moments with teachers and friends, for we know not where life's road will lead us once we are gone from here. Thus, this yearbook must be considered the freezing of moments—precious moments, valuable moments in our lives, in our growth.

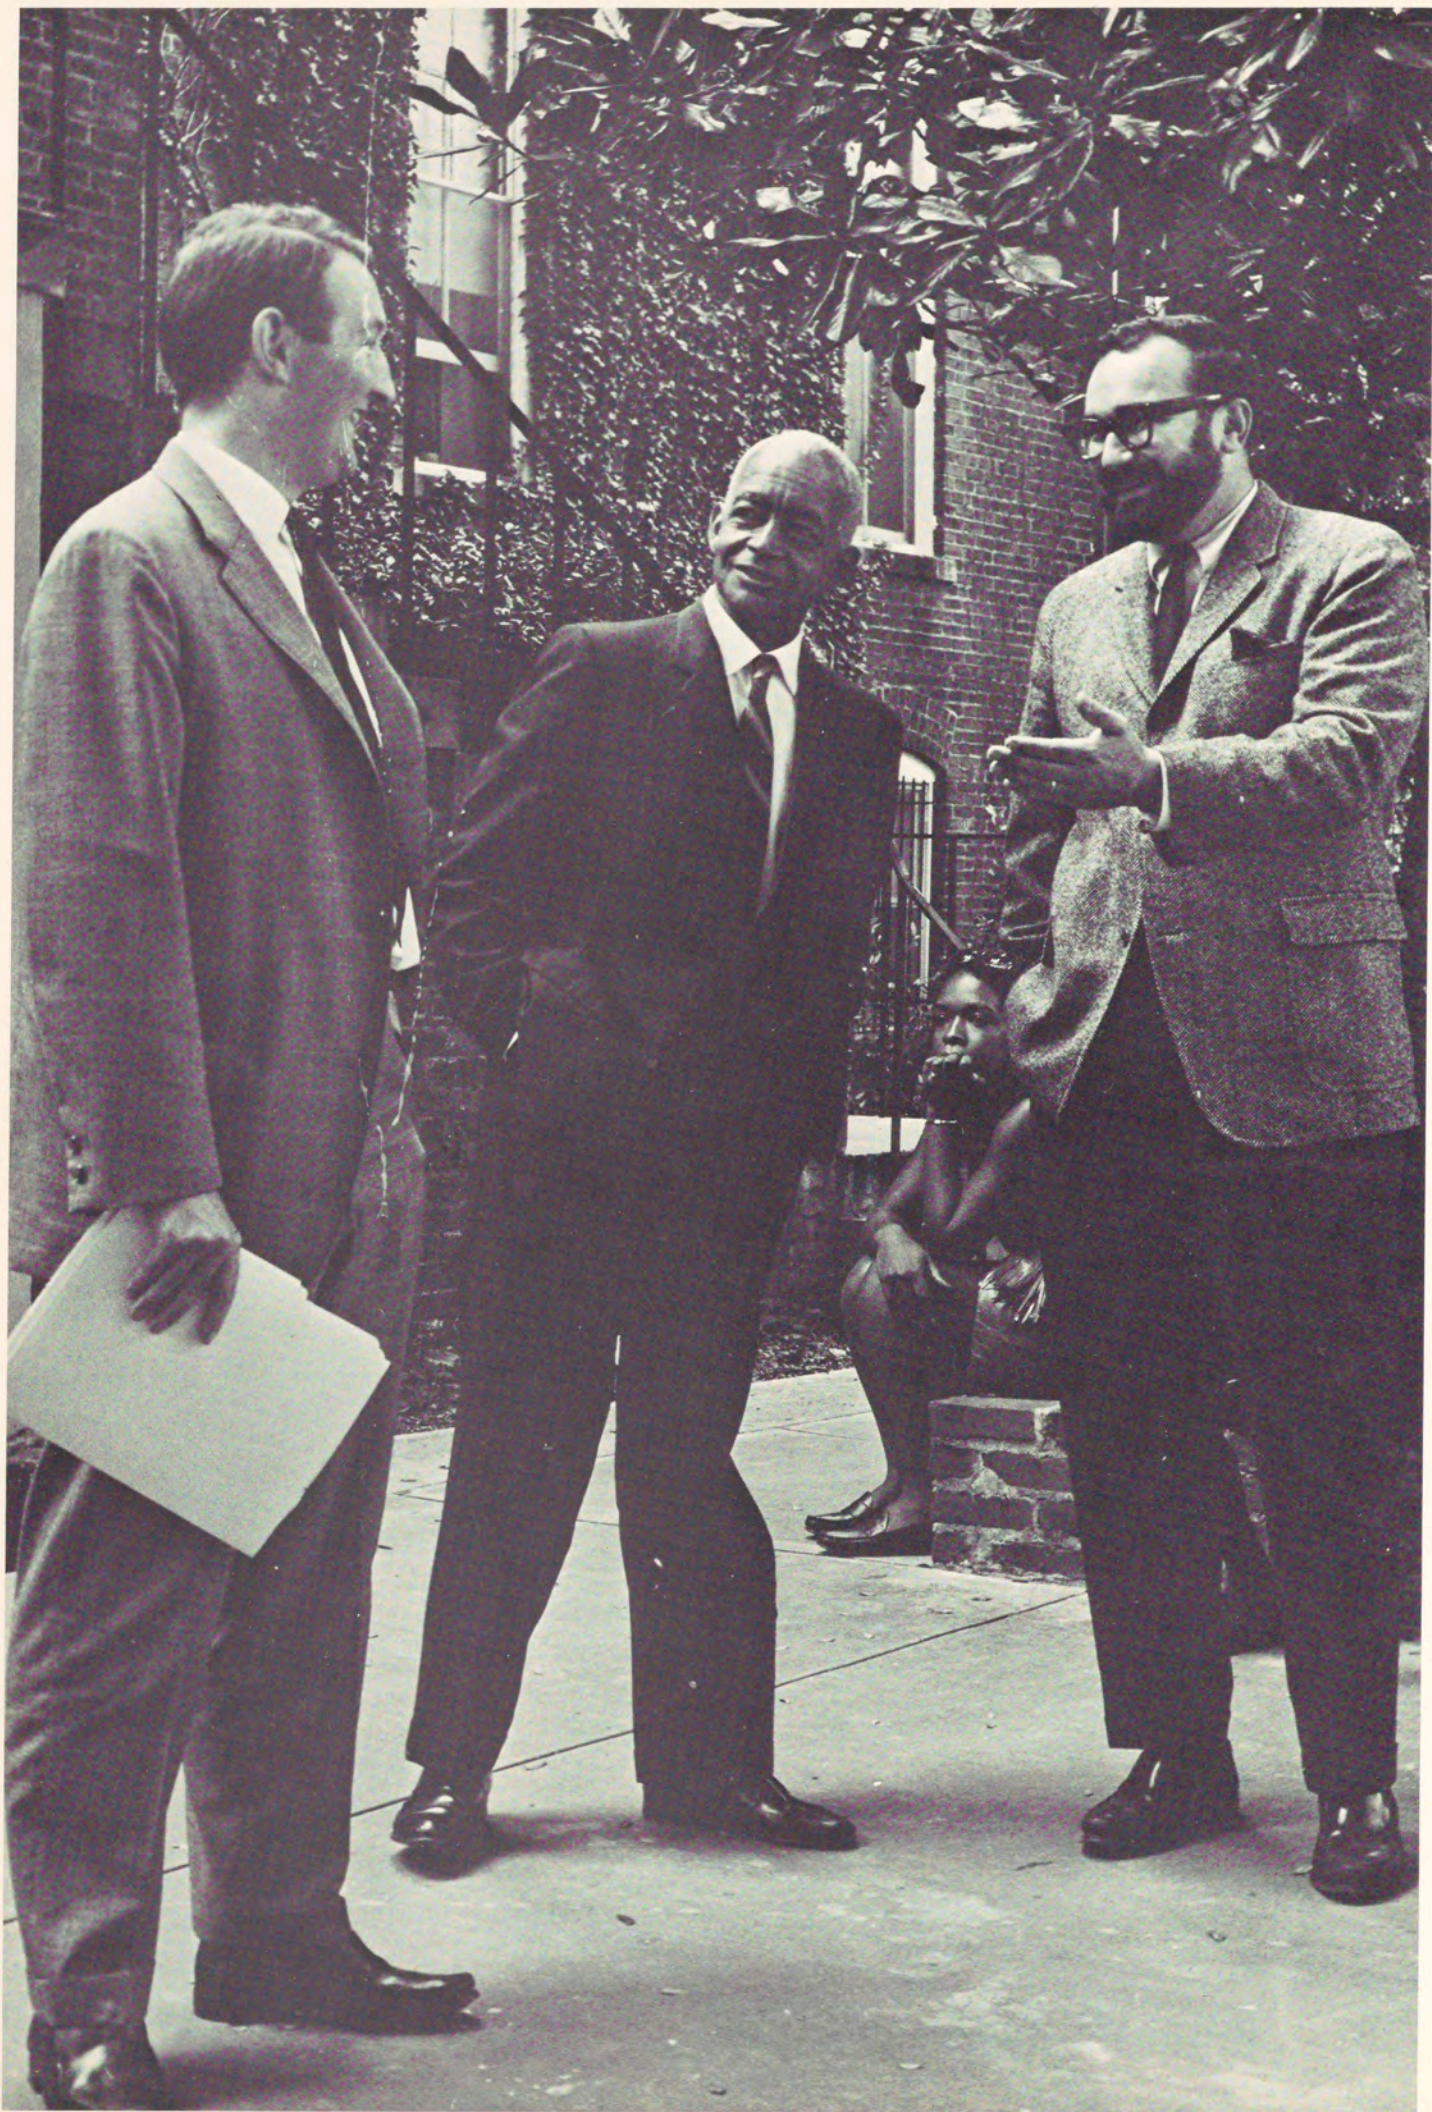

Our distinguished president is a man of many qualities, among which is his compatibility with both staff and students

Some people have a perfect genius for doing nothing, and doing it assiduously.
Haliburton

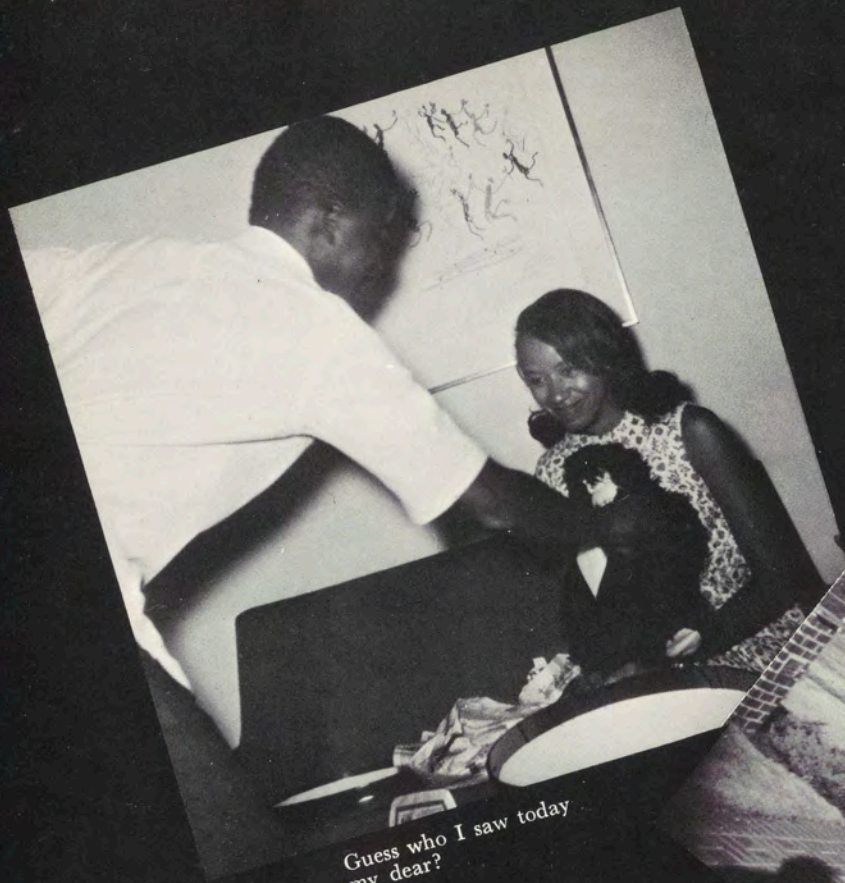

The learning process is one that is dependent upon several factors. It is of primary importance that an institution have both a capable faculty and a group of students who have demonstrated the ability to learn. The student must be able to apply this newly acquired knowledge, if the process is to be deemed a successful one. During the course of her educative development, the Spelman young woman learns that it is possible to learn in a variety of environments.

Guess who I saw today
my dear?

Quick-draw McGraw

Would you believe?

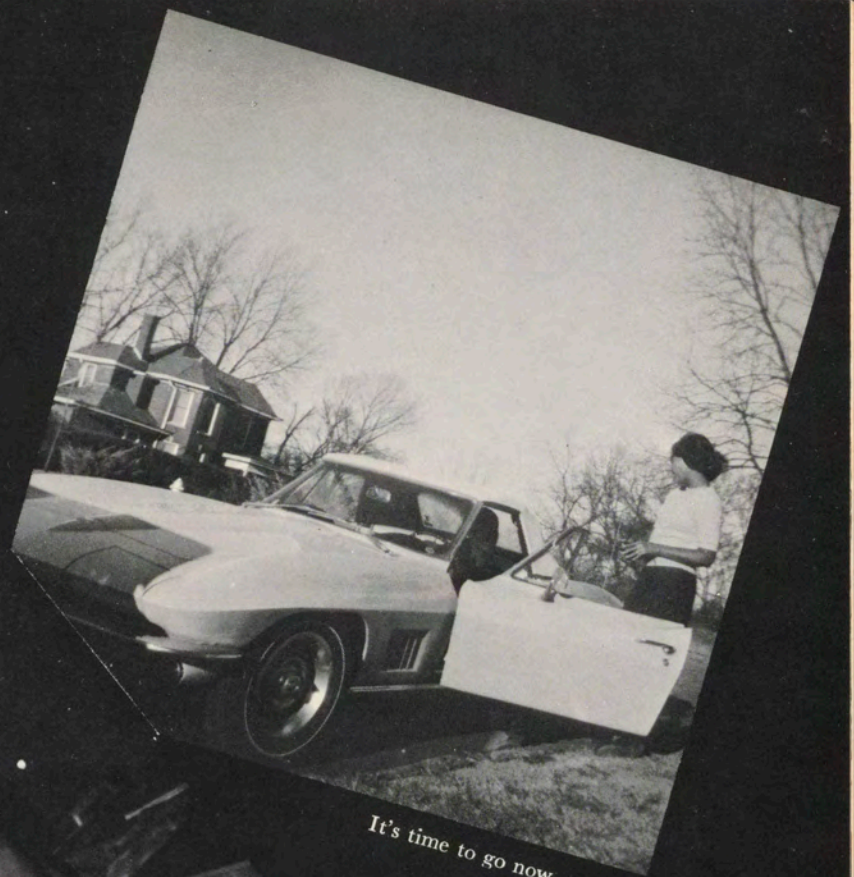

Another hen party - Ugh!

Scoffing hard, hard, hard.

It's time to go now

Why am I treated so bad?!

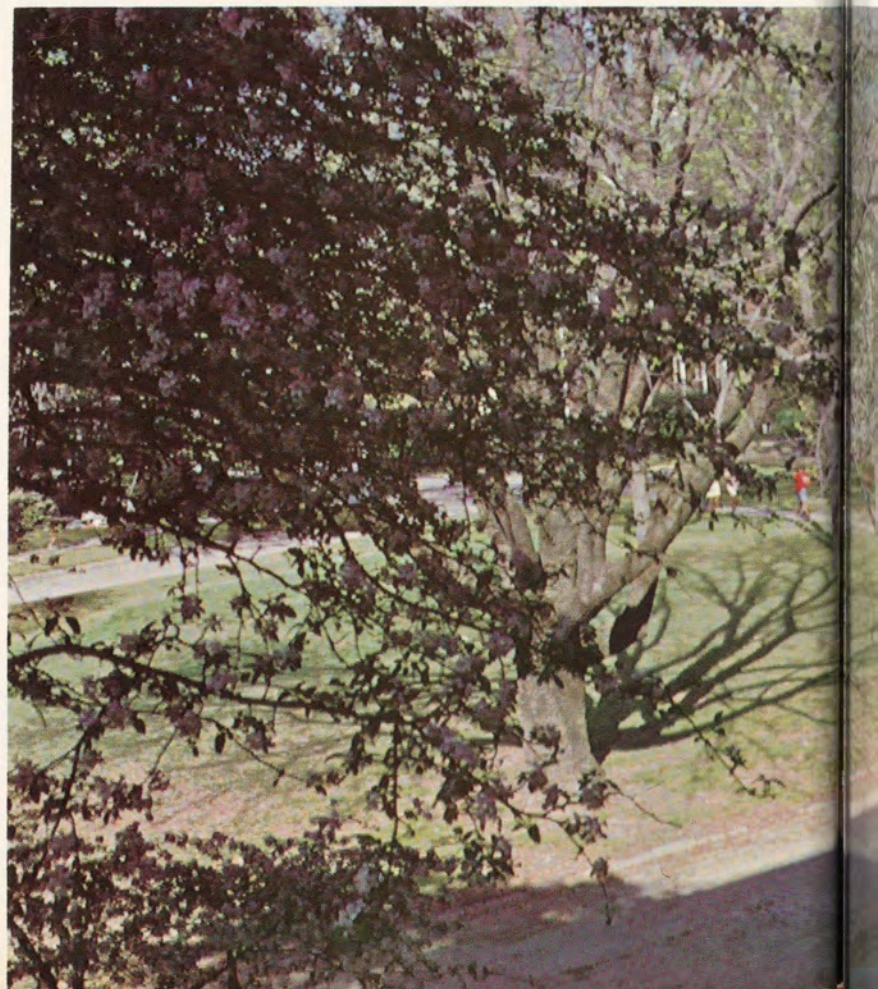

Society's child!

It is not necessarily a place or a building
or people or things

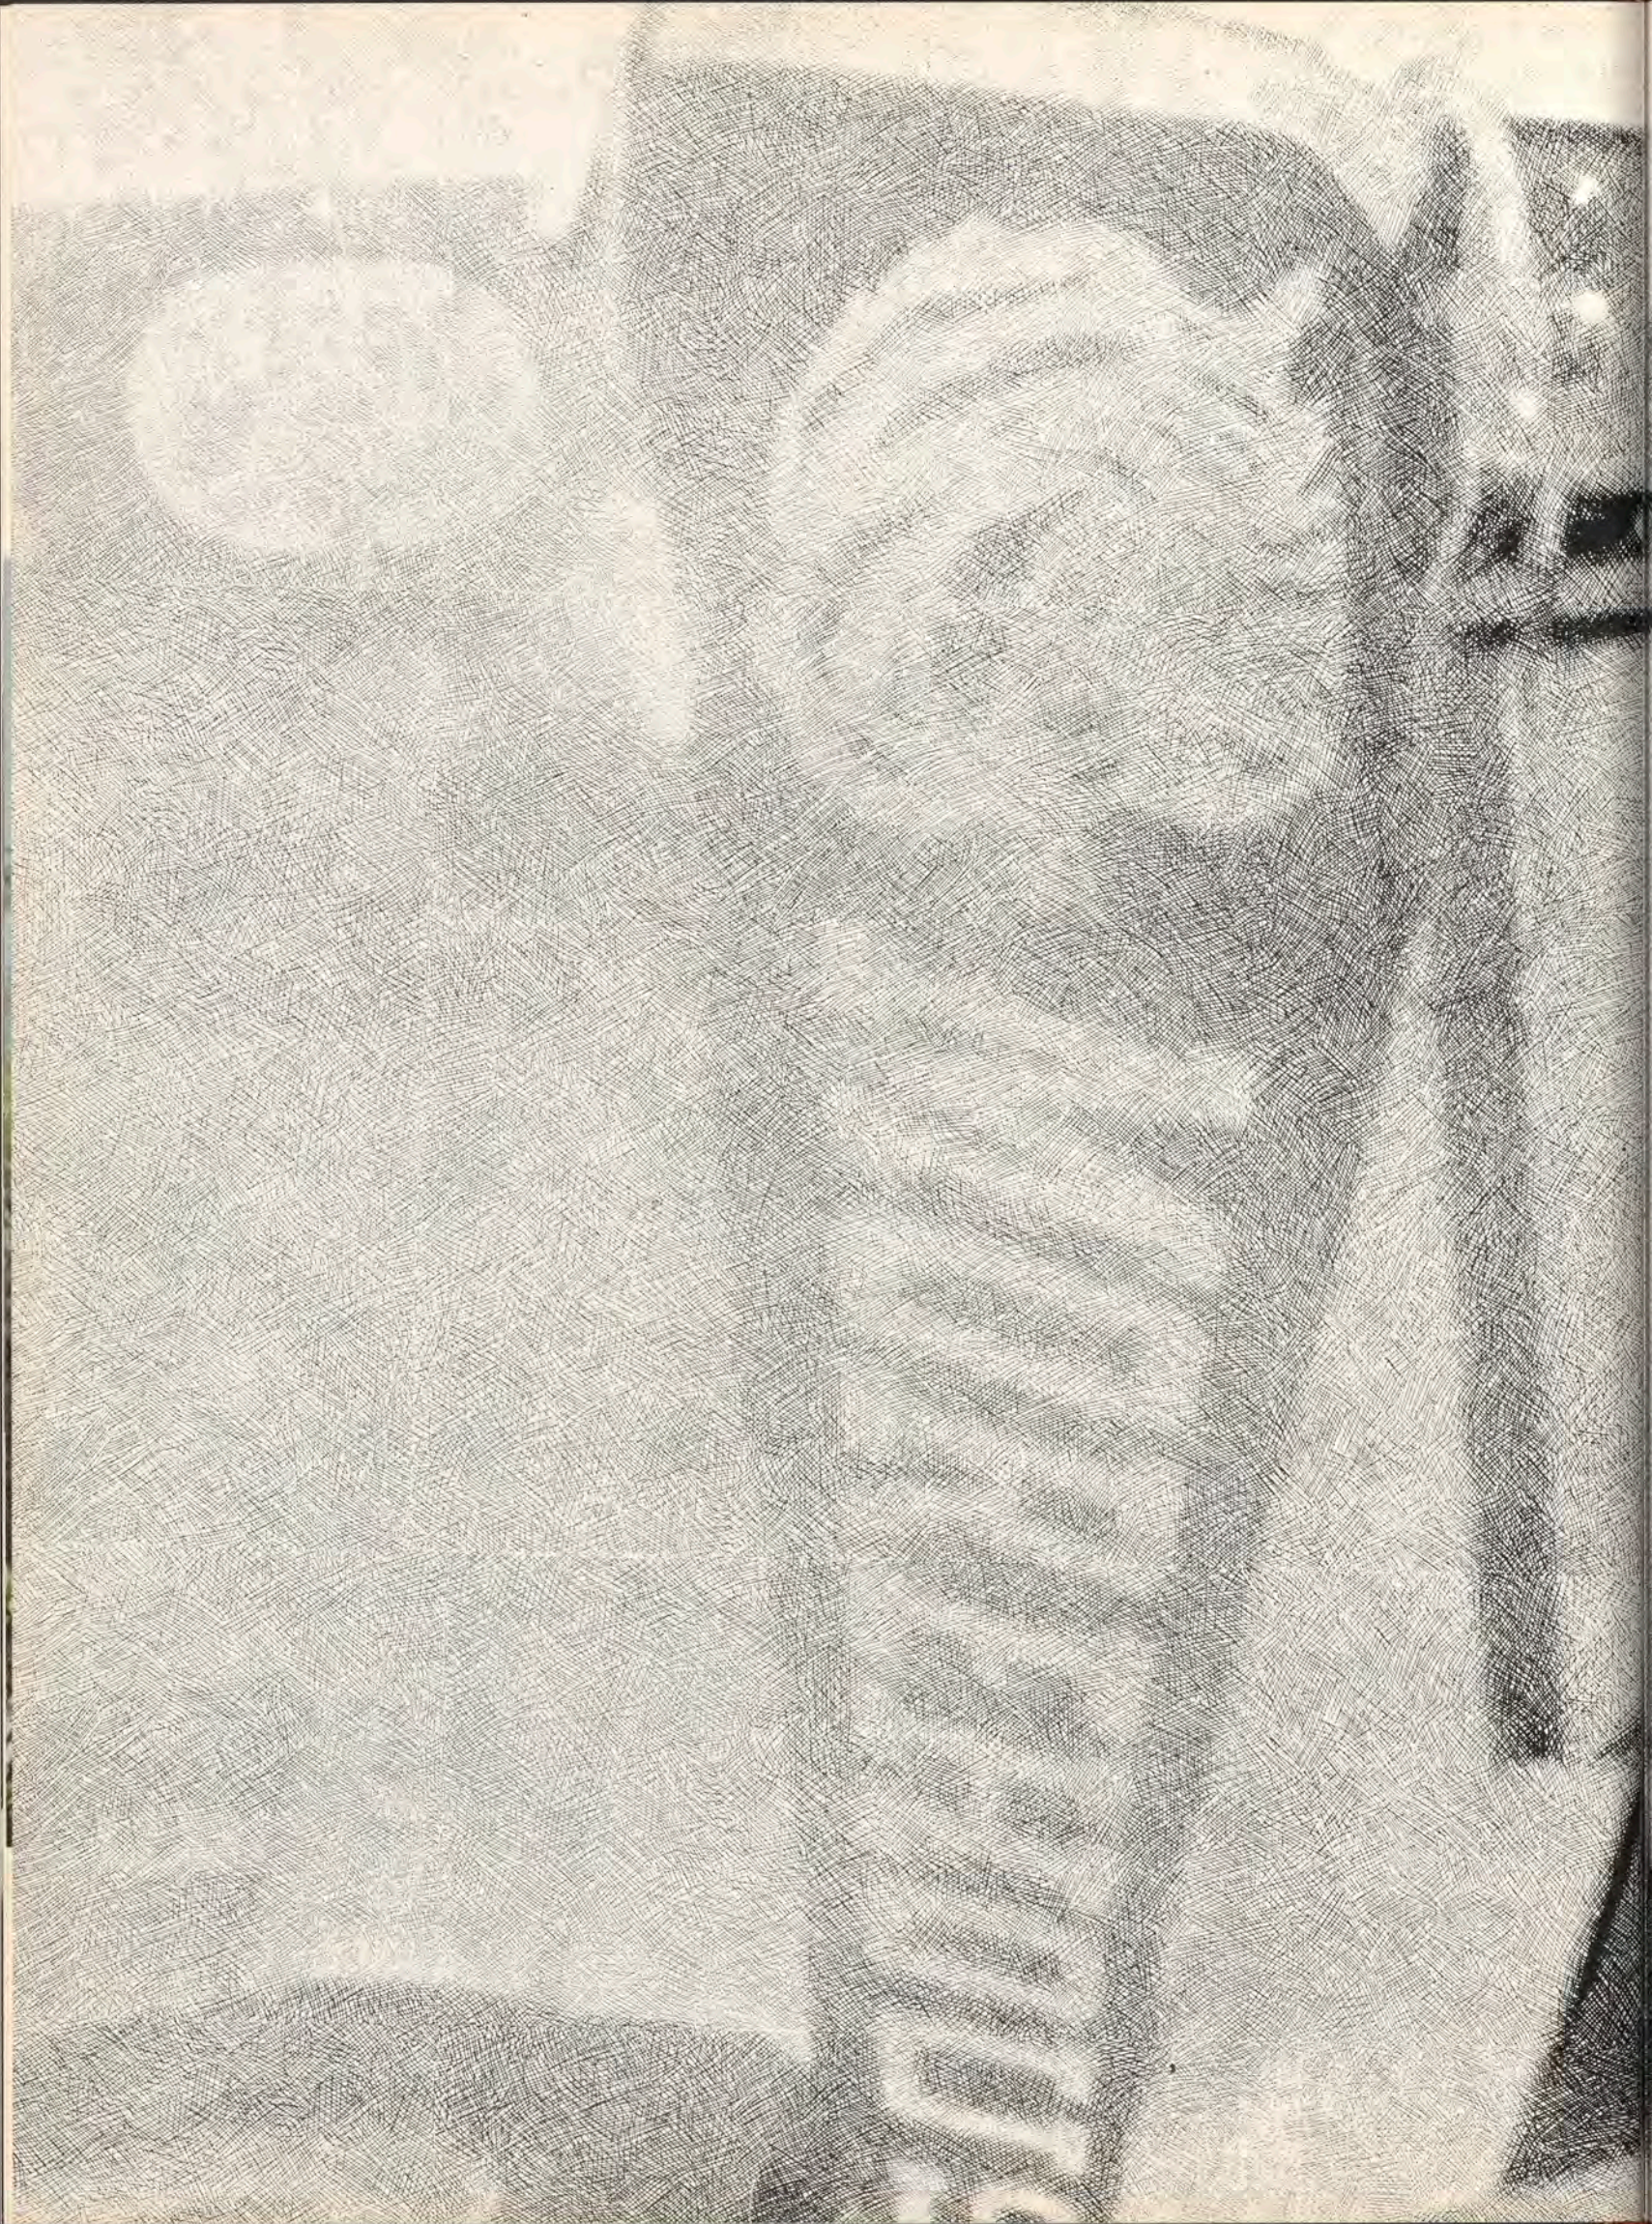

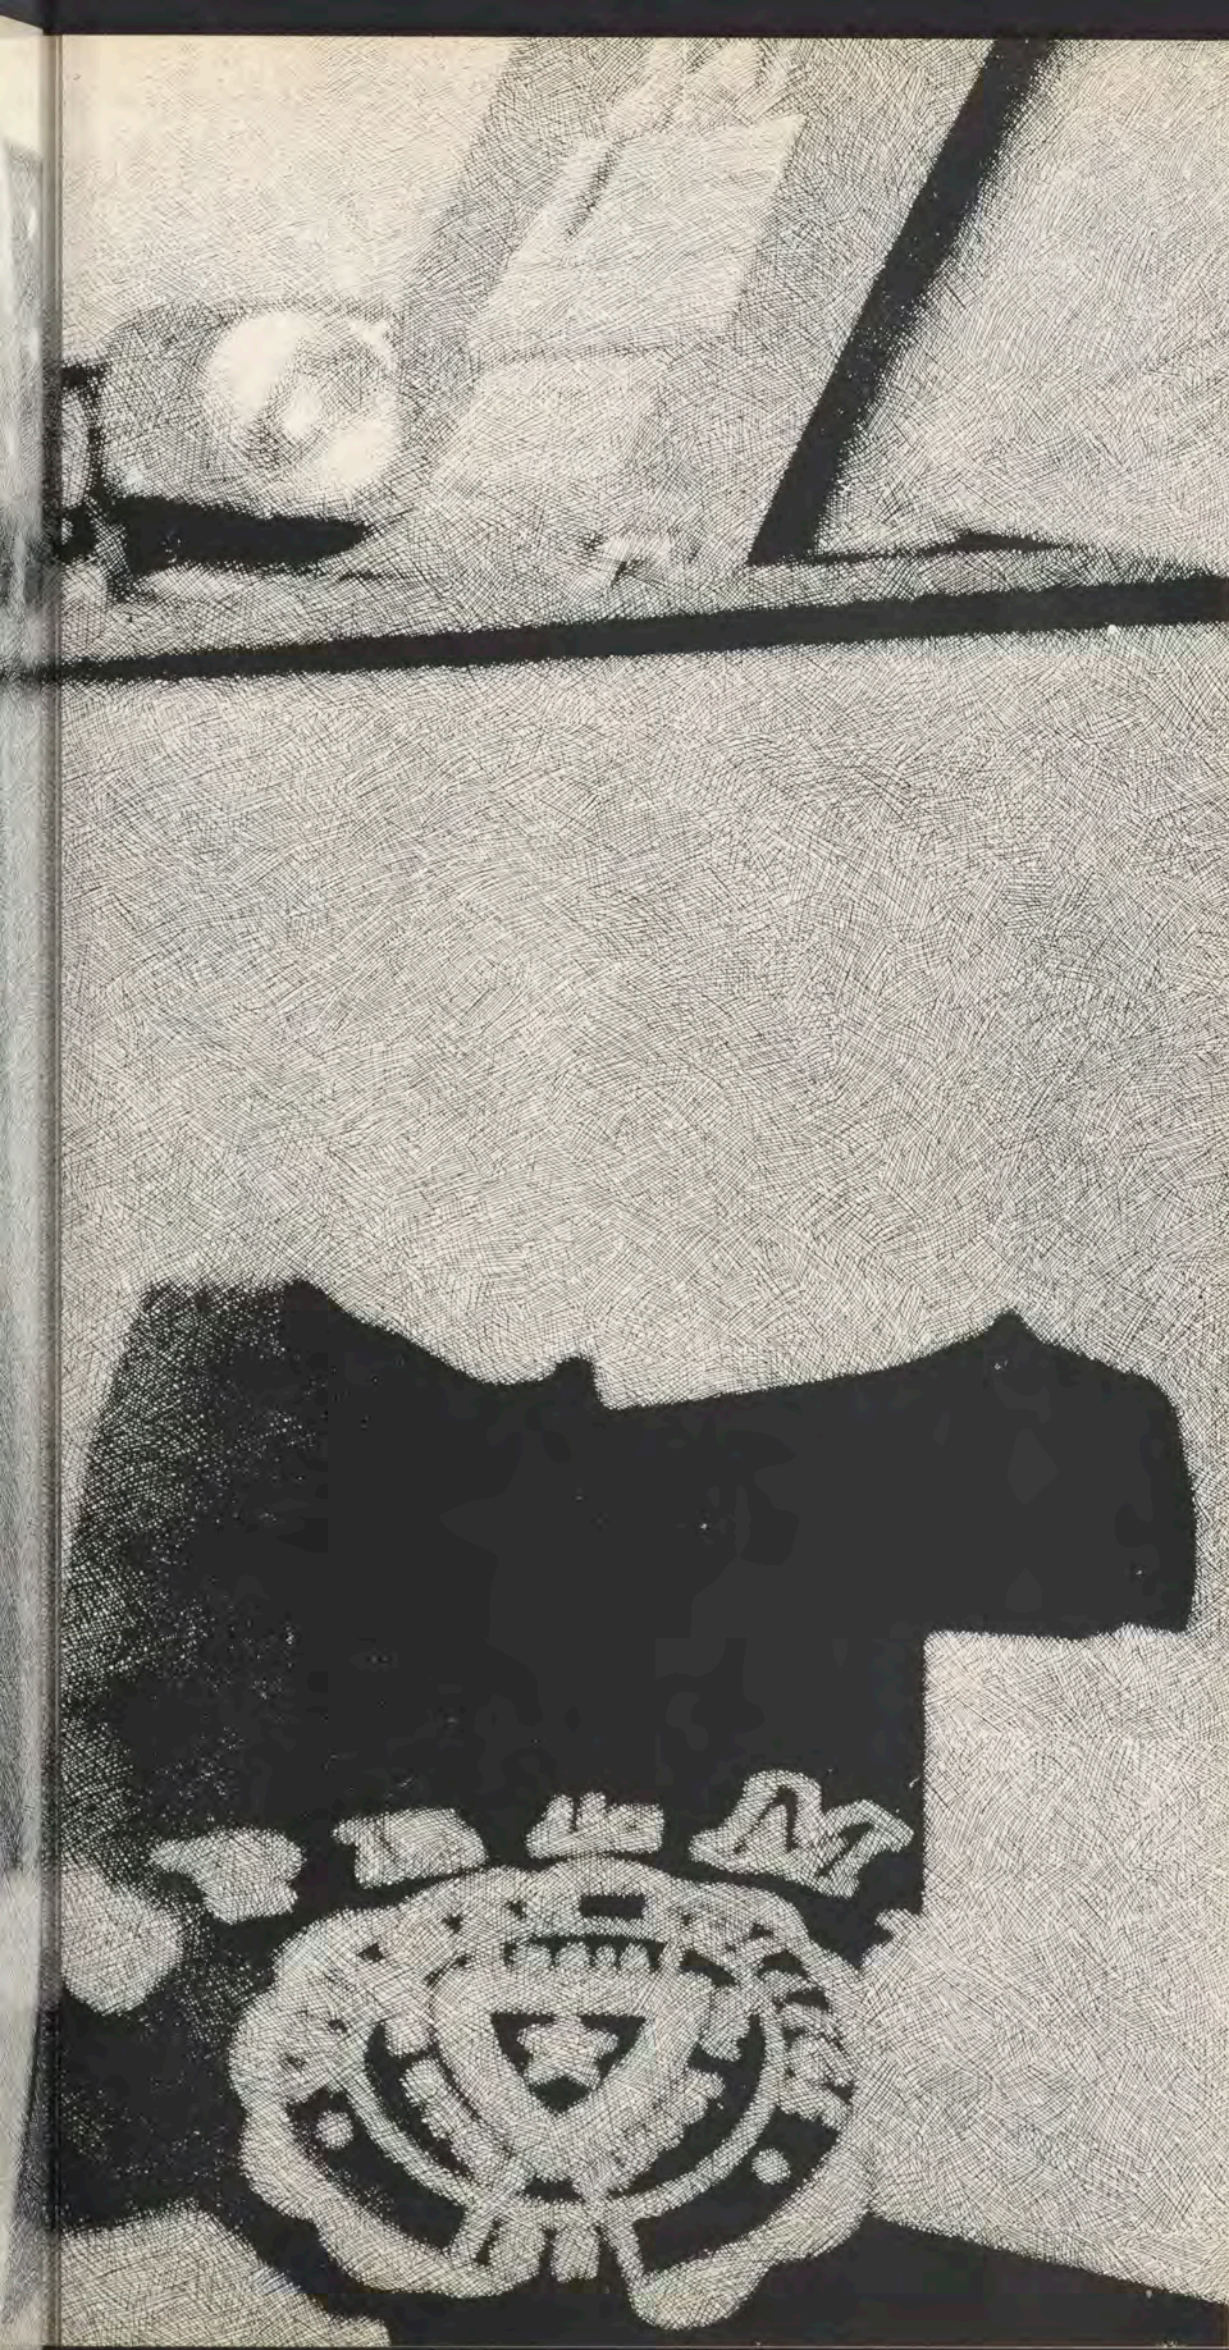

... but in the final analysis it is an interaction of our thoughts and our memories.

She comes to Spelman
wise in the ways of youth, confused about the ways of adulthood. Her smile wavers as she leaves her family, her friends and all that has been familiar to come to a world unknown, Spelman College. She is a stranger and she is scared.
But it doesn't take her very long to realize that she is not alone. Others have come to the unfamiliar world of Spelman. With them she finds communion and begins to adjust to her new titles: Little Sister,

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS

President, Theresa A. Chandler

Many Sophomore young women have found refuge in the hallowed halls of Morgan.

None but a fool is always right.

The door of knowledge is labeled "Push"

When love and skill work together, expect a masterpiece.

"You hear a good many echoes in the world, but mighty few real voices."

Spelman young ladies eagerly await Open House with much anticipation so that they can extend warm greetings to each visitor.

THE SPLENDID ERROR

The Spelman young woman practices for perfection . . .
until her very movements swirl into a stylized black and white symphony.

Now this young lady has many advantages. She has gone three-fourths of the way and assures herself that the other one-fourth will certainly be smooth sailing. However, right now her concentration is divided between writing term papers and cultivating a social life. She is, of course, a

JUNIOR CLASS OFFICERS

President—Gail Williams

A perfect iced morning dripped into days of slippery-booted climbs and frost-biting spills.

And dream-prone girls let the crystals lead them through whimsical journeys . . .

The pulse quickens outside, neglected studies creep even more slowly.

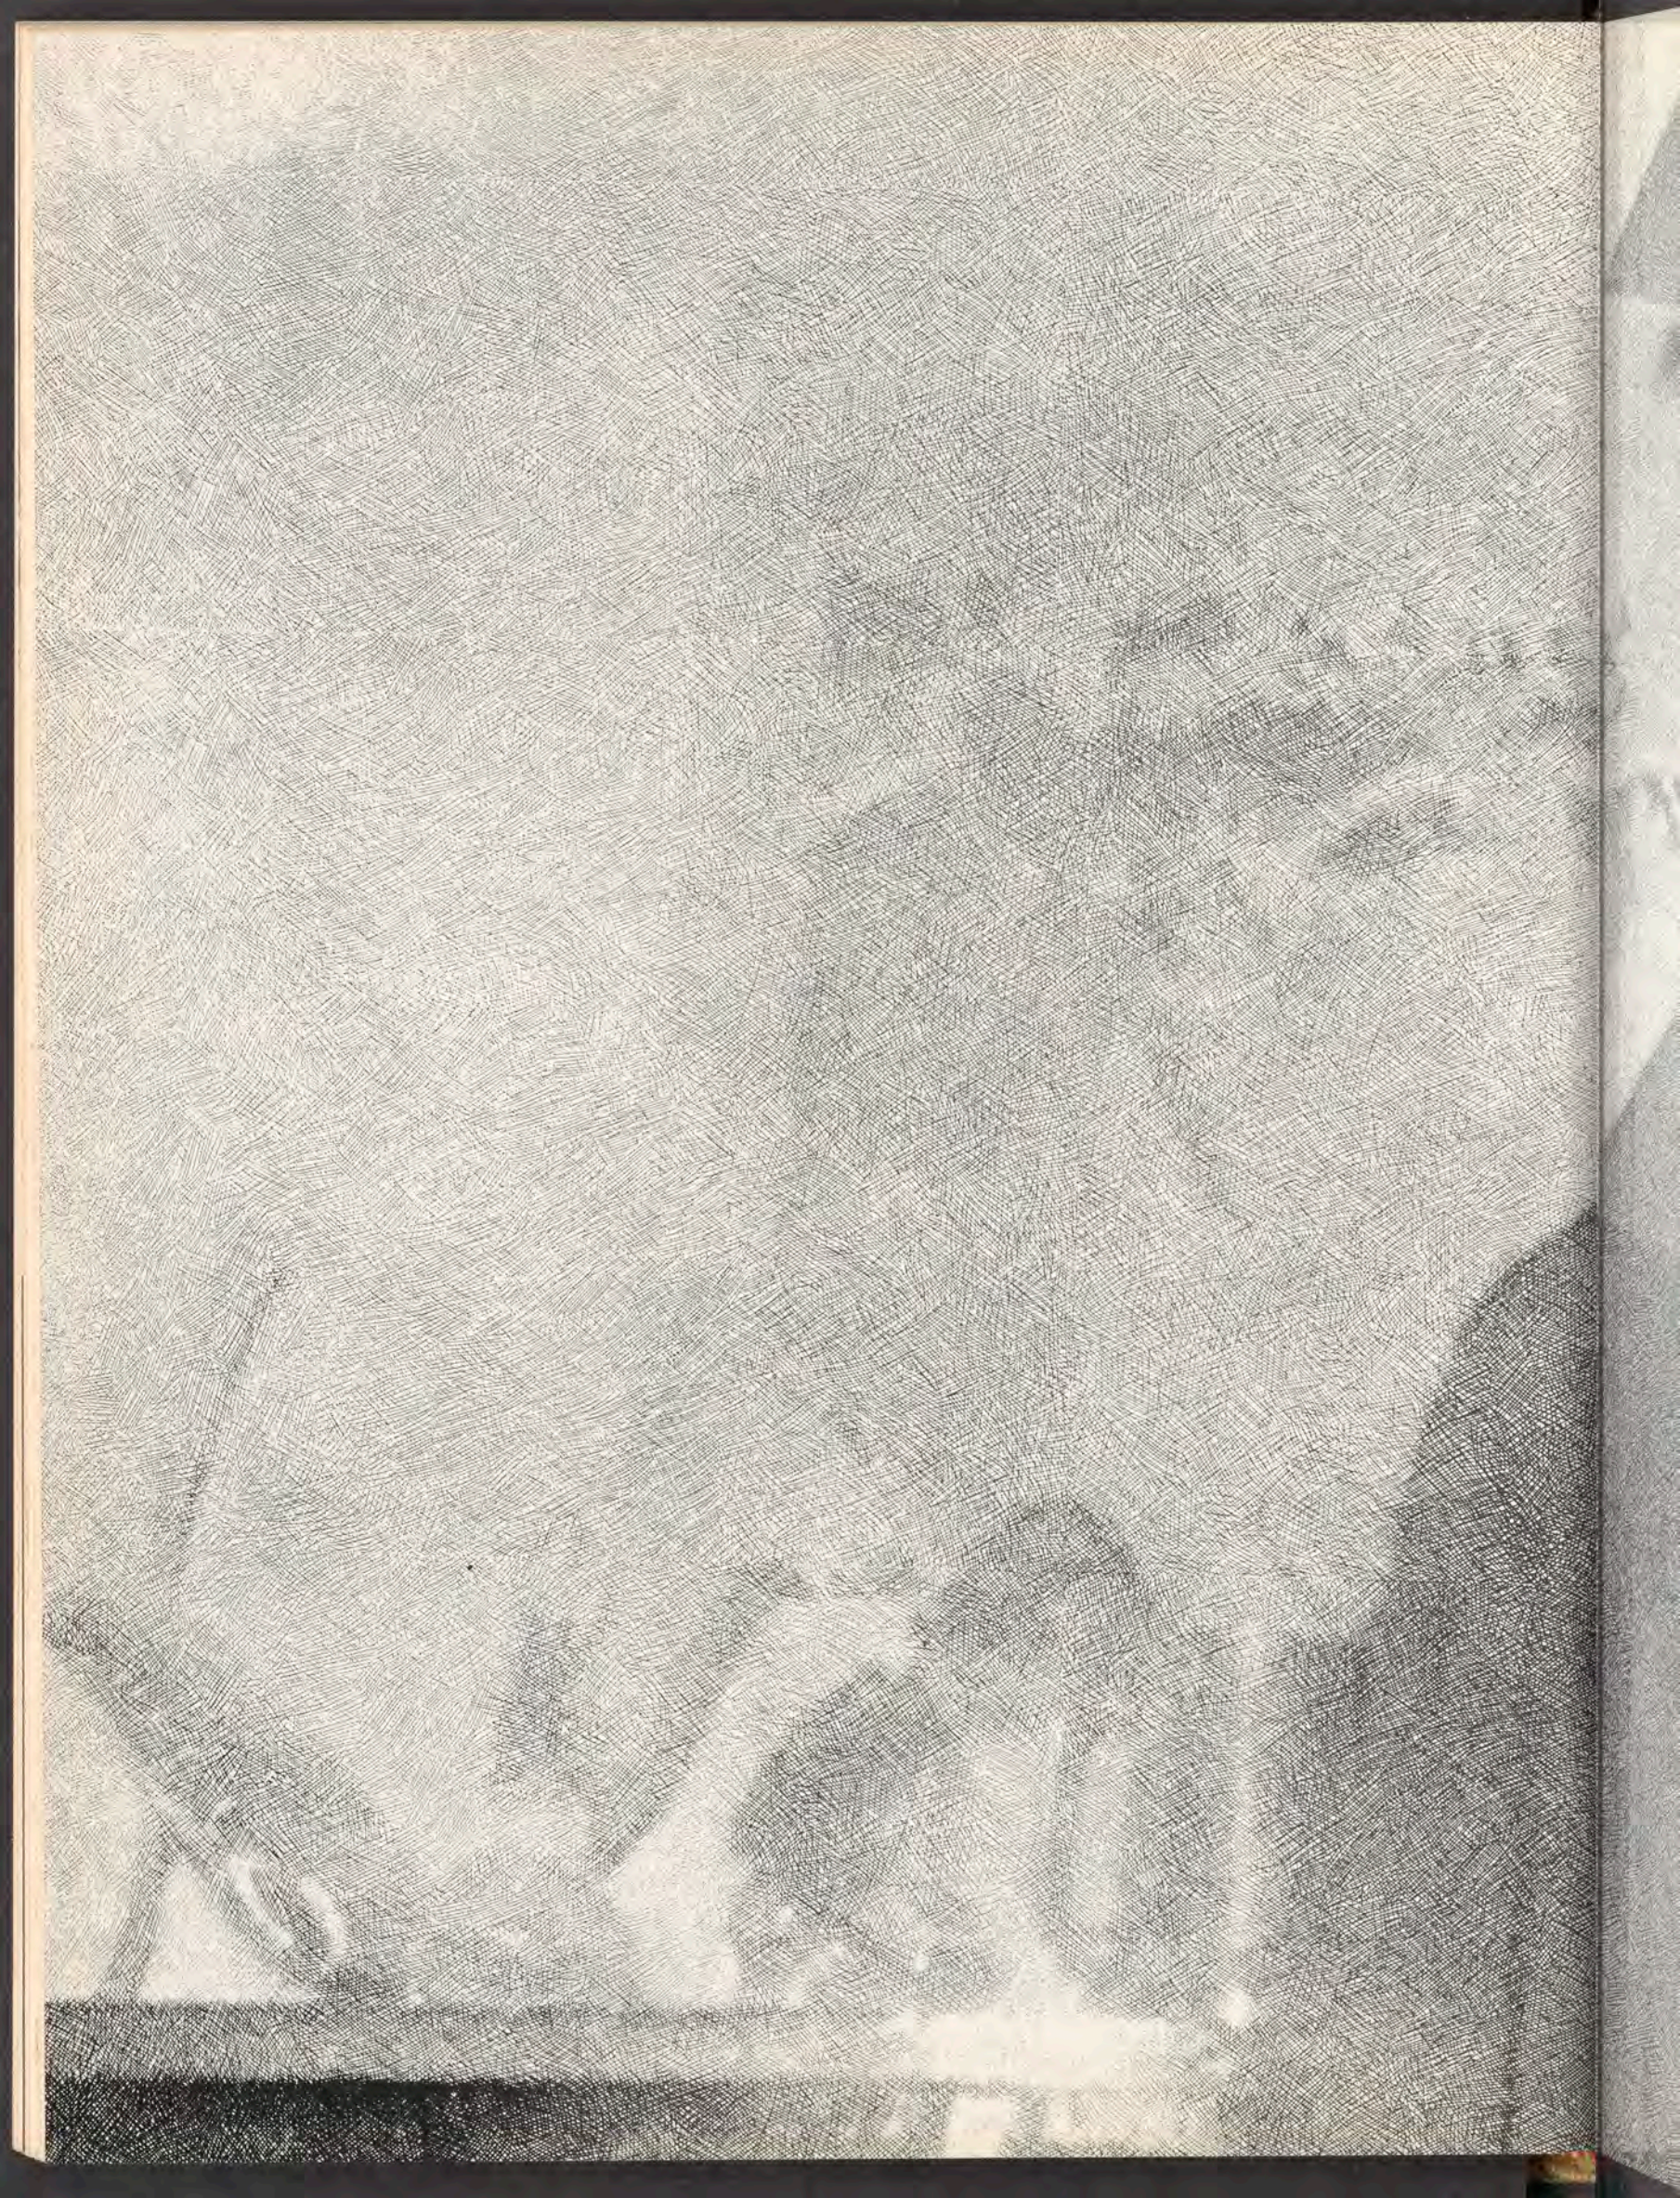

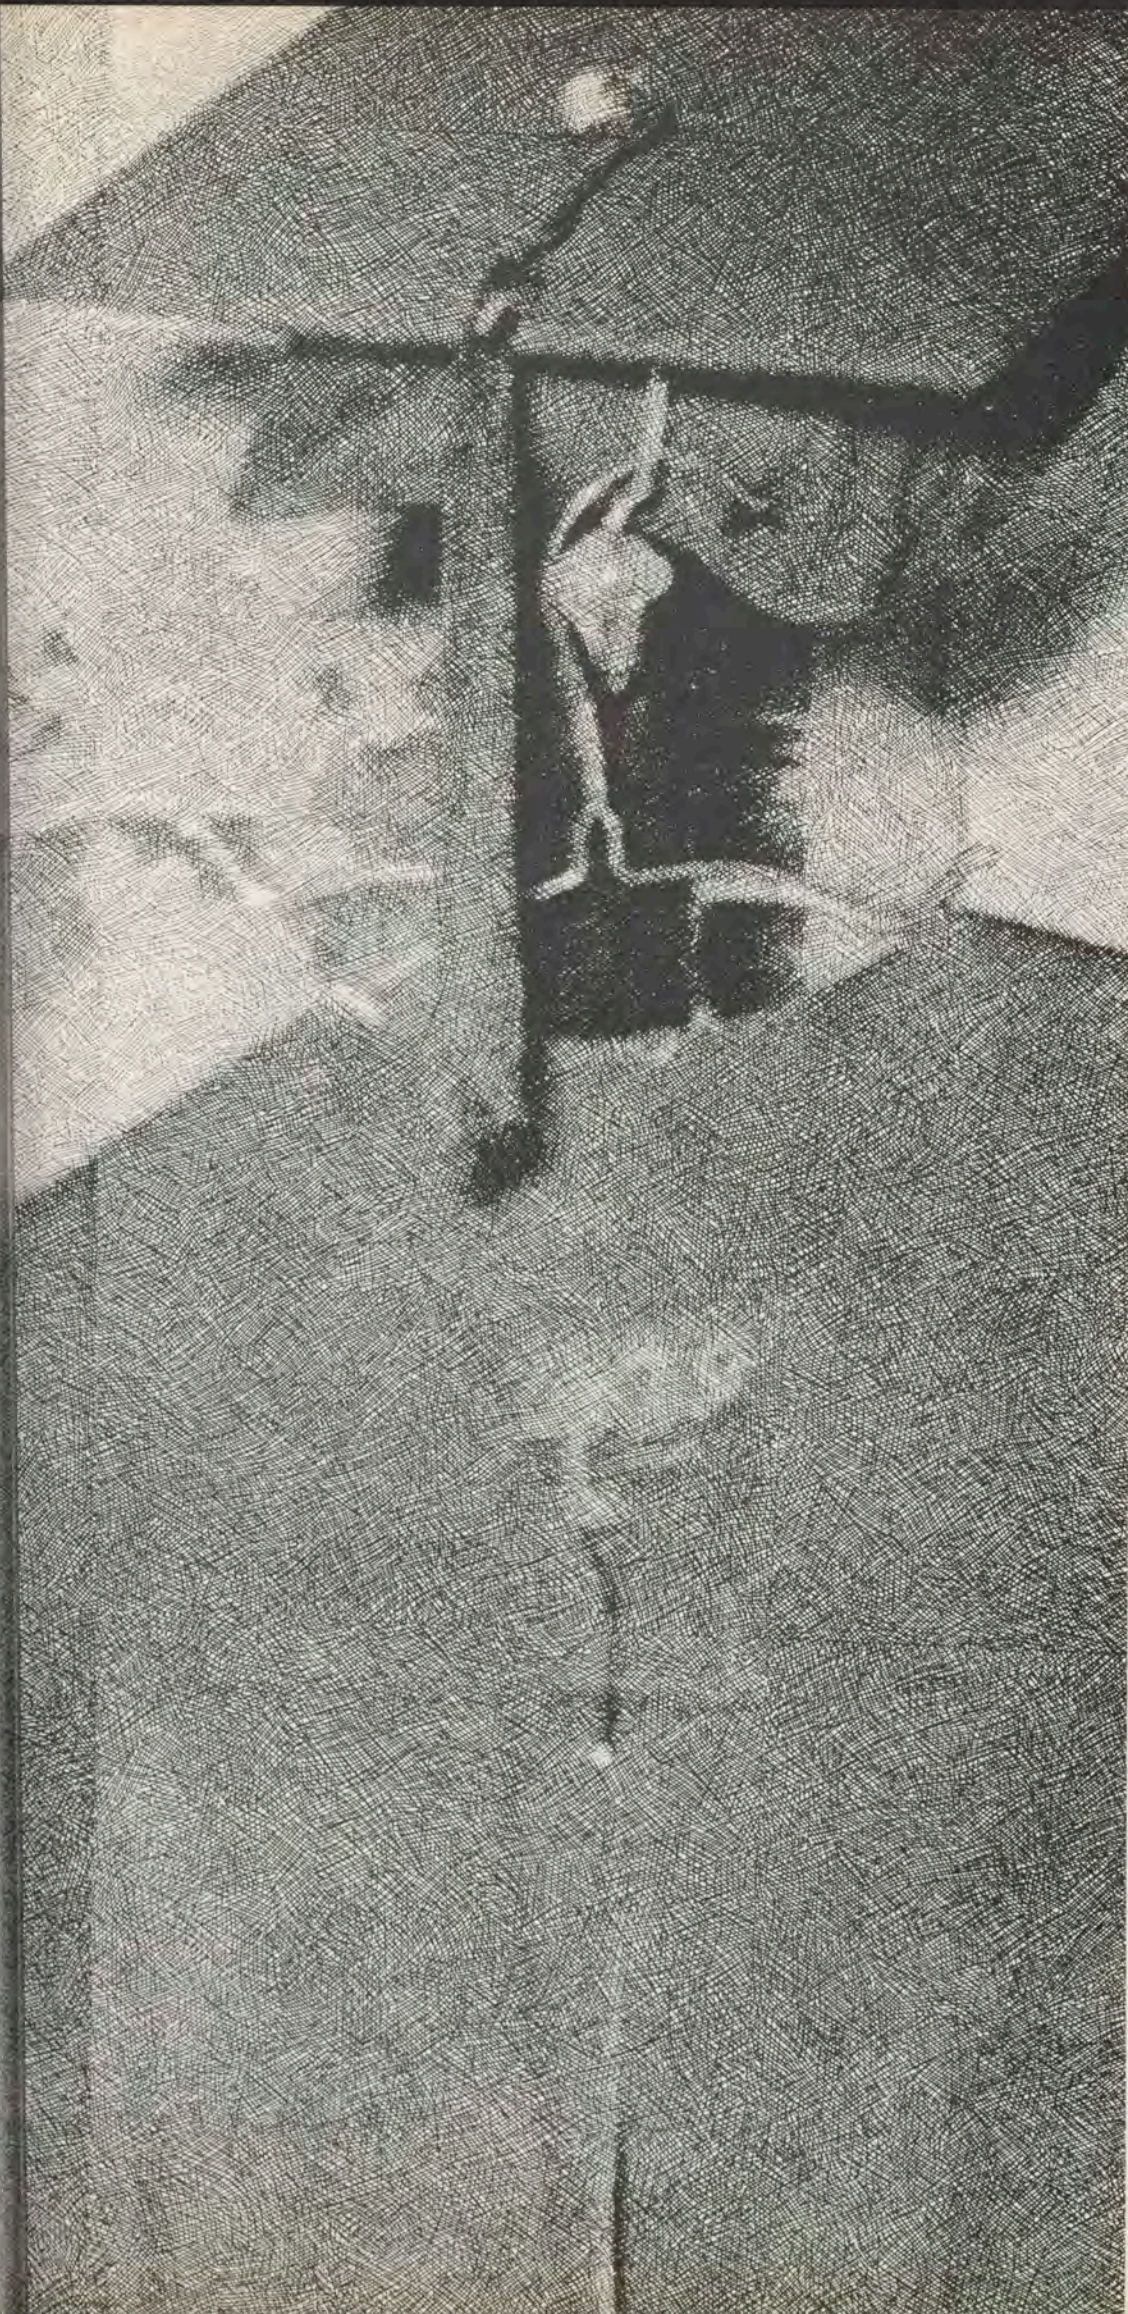

Thoughts drift lazily with the breeze and we find a young woman's fancy also turns to love.

She is the girl most looked up to because she has almost completed her work at Spelman. Outwardly, she is calm, collected, poised and assured. Inwardly, she is often full of doubts and questions because she knows that the real test of all that she has learned, of all her growing comes after she leaves Spelman. She laughs sometimes at her name because she feels herself a Junior member of the world she is about to join despite the fact that at Spelman she is known as

ALPHA PHI ALPHA

Morehouse men have played an important role in the lives of Spelman Women. The fraternities, especially, have added both to the cultural and social aspects of our college atmosphere.

It is indeed an honor to be chosen as a sweetheart of any organization, however to be selected as Miss Maroon and White is the supreme honor. This is but one of the many roles that a Spelman young woman plays during her four years at Spelman. This year's queen fully exemplifies dignity, poise and loveliness personified.

Dr. Albert E. Manley, President

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE CLASS OF 1968:

It is a source of great satisfaction to me to congratulate you on having reached this milestone in your career. I assume that in your four years here you have been exposed to an education which has enabled you to develop a clear sense of your personal identity; which has developed your ability to select and perform a satisfying occupation; an education broadly based and inclusive of experiences which will enable you to be effective members of a family, good citizens, and thoroughly conversant with the many issues and problems facing young people of today's world.

I also assume that those of you who will go into teaching professions have had educational experiences which will enable you to perform at a level of excellence in the classroom. I am sure that many of you like your sisters before you will be going on to graduate and professional schools. Should this be the case, you should be adequately prepared after four years to do graduate work of significance at any university in this country or abroad. Finally, please be reminded that education begins at birth and ends with death. It is, therefore, my sincere hope that you will continue your education throughout your lives.

All good wishes to you in the years ahead.

If you've come in contact with her, in or out of her classroom, if you've felt the warmth of her smile or known her charm, if you've ever observed her poise, her understanding, then you'll know immediately why DR. GRACE BOGGS SMITH, chairman of the Music Department, was selected as one of our two teachers of the year.

FACULTY

Perhaps you heard DR. VINCENT HARDING at a lecture, or maybe you spent a few nights preparing a final copy of a term paper for his critical eye. Maybe you saw him walking hand-in-hand with his daughter. It's better still if you've experienced all of these things. If you have, you know a man of many dimensions, of many good qualities, a man very deserving of the title also bestowed on him: Teacher of the Year.

BIOLOGY and CHEMISTRY

Pursued by the perfume of formaldehyde #5, frantic biologists and chemists, caught in a myriad of life, raise questions and fruitflies through the years.

Bird calls fly on campus mornings while squint-eyed botanists cross to greener pastures of the plant kingdom.

From the Science departments there bubbles forth a sporadic stream of hopefuls . . .

EDUCATION DEPARTMENT

Mrs. Evelyn Carroll

Practice teachers, drenched in nervous smiles and proper methods, face rows of question mark eyes, how to sift knowledge into the kool-aid thoughts of six year-olds. Spinning on the carousel of the education department, academic hopefuls float past a polished Aristotle, and reach for the gilded certificate. And then they leave, only to peer from behind their fortress lectures at the eager classroom of the world.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

Dripping from the dizzy plunge of freshman English, we splash through this department playing water games with slippery words. English offers a brightly wrapped gift of knowledge to each; World Lit. for the adventurous, Creative Writing for the fanciful and the pages of Survey for the patient . . .

In time-machine classrooms, tourists of the past keep trim in ancient Sparta, shout through the Reign of Terror, and tremble at the "shot heard round the world."

With their stony idols of population, stratification and culture, the tribe of sociologists is a strange tribe indeed.

Facing a blackboard dressed in chalk figures students safari through knotted jungles, hacking at a web of facts as they go. Wide-eyed, they witness the marriage rites of the primitive Tchambuli, then realize people are not always like those back home.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT

Quick wit and good spirits mark him as one who has triumphed. His courage is that of one who faces the challenges of living with humor and understanding. For the spirit of encouragement, and a thousand little things that sparked that now-so-long-ago freshman year, we, the members of the staff engraving your kindness as permanent friendship, dedicate our own section of the 1968 REFLECTIONS to you, and add our thank you. It seems inadequate to recognize the unselfish thoughtfulness, the companionship, and the good times simply in pen and ink, but how else can we acknowledge what you mean to the college and especially to us, the yearbook staff?

Thank you, Mr. Caruthers . . .

The 1968 Reflections is the product of many hours of planning and labor performed by a small number of dedicated hands. It is the hope of the editorial staff that all who read the yearbook will be satisfied that it captured some salient feature or some significant event of the past school year. We would like to thank all those who have contributed their efforts to the monumental task of presenting to you the 1968 Reflections.

QUALITY IS OUR CONCERN. Quality in sales, development and leasing is the constant concern of Alexander-Dawson & Associates, a unique real estate organization in the Negro community of metropolitan Atlanta. A significant example of the progressive direction of this company is the proposed University Towers, a massive and prestigious high-rise apartment complex shown upper left. The distinctive, circular construction of University Plaza Apartments pictured in the upper right-hand photograph, features elegant furnishings and exceptional convenience facilities. For unrivaled originality, the Peyton Square condominium complex in Southwest Atlanta, pictured lower left and right, provides town house units and tastefully decorated interiors designed for luxurious living. Residences such as these emphasize Alexander-Dawson & Associates' desire to provide for Atlanta's increasingly sophisticated tastes.
